Russians' 'proof' is vid game

THE Russian ministry of defence has been caught distributing false images it claims are from recent U.S. operations in Syria, but which in fact show scenes from a computer game and an old Iraqi military video.

The images, shared on the ministry's official Facebook and Twitter pages, are accompanied by a caption describing the pictures as an Islamic State convoy leaving the Syrian city of Abu Kamal on November 9.

Russia claimed these pictures showed "irrefutable evidence" that the U.S.-led coalition was working together with Isis troops "to promote American interests" in the Middle East.

However, all of the images can be traced to material posted online before 2017, including a promo video for AC-130 Gunship Simulator, a game from 2015.

Army sparks rift fears with Mugabe

ZIMBABWE is on red alert after tanks were seen outside the capital a day after an army commander threatened to "step in" to calm political tensions over the president's firing of his deputy.

Three tanks with soldiers in a convoy on a road were spotted heading to an army barracks near the capital Harare.

It heightens unease that the country is for the first time seeing an open rift between the military and 93-year-old President Robert Mugabe.

Mr Mugabe last week fired vice president Emmerson Mnangagwa and accused him of plotting to take power.

CLASSROOM KILLER 'WANTED TO STAB UNBORN CHILD TO DEATH TOO'

CAGED: Will Cornick

A PULP Fiction-obsessed schoolboy who murdered teacher Ann Maguire also wanted to stab to death another's unborn child the same day, an inquest heard.

Will Cornick, now 19, also told friends he wanted to stab a third teacher in the neck – so he could go to prison.

Four months before the murder of Mrs Maguire, 61, he bragged to pals on Facebook that he would he would carry out the killing "for a tenner".

Cornick is serving a minimum 20-year sentence for repeatedly stabbing Mrs Maguire during a Spanish lesson at Corpus Christi Catholic College in Leeds, West Yorks, in 2014.

Boasted

Wakefield Coroner's Court heard that petite Mrs Maguire "had no chance" of survival against the strapping 6ft 2ins student, then aged 15, who had posted messages about his plans online.

He boasted: "I would kill Maguire for a tenner…if I do it on Tuesday will you bail me out?

"Let's break into school, smash everything in Spanish, then get drunk, do it again and punch some walls."

STABBED: Ann Maguire

Cornick had even changed his profile picture to an image of a Grim Reaper during the message exchanges in December 2013.

A number of his Facebook messages exchanged with others have been read to the jury.

In one, he said: "The one absolute fking bitch that deserves more than death, more than pain torture and more than anything that we can understand."

On Christmas Eve, Cornick said: "If imbgonna (sic) be your assassin then i'm gonna need enough pay to bail me out if I get caught.

"Btw no bullshit I am full on honest about being your assassin."

In a message sent in January, he said: "I want power I want the capability or choice in a sense to be able to get told off by Maguire and for me to turn around with the skill pride and power and axe her fking cockles with a long and shiny blade."

He also sent a message which said: "I'm not looking forward to tomorrow…we have Maguire and I want her to perish."

The inquest heard he held a grudge against Mrs Maguire and was prepared to go to jail "so as not to have to worry about life or money", the inquest heard.

Cornick had taken the 13-inch blade from his parents' kitchen on the morning of the murder.

The coroner heard he calmly got up from his seat in his 4th floor languages classroom, stabbed Mrs Maguire eight times, then returned to his seat "like nothing had happened".

The inquest heard Cornick was a very capable art student but wanted to drop his GCSE Spanish class.

Friends had said they thought his threats to kill the teacher was just joking around.

Cornick has never shown any remorse for what he did.

The inquest, expected to last two weeks, continues.

CLAIMS: Telly producer Daisy Goodwin

Downing St to probe 'No.10 boob groping'

DOWNING Street is said to have contacted a TV producer who claims she was groped during a meeting inside No.10, to ask whether she'd like to make a formal complaint.

Daisy Goodwin, the creator of hit ITV series Victoria, said an official touched her breast after a discussion of a proposed programme during David Cameron's time in office.

The former PM has said he was "alarmed and shocked" to hear her allegations, and has contacted the Cabinet Office to voice his concern.

Downing Street said the Cabinet Office would look into any formal complaint that was made.

Inappropriate

Theresa May's official spokesman declined to say whether any complaint had been received and said it would be "inappropriate" for him to disclose whether Ms Goodwin was being approached.

But a Whitehall source indicated that contact had been made with the TV producer to ensure she was aware if she chose to make a complaint, it would be looked into.

Ms Goodwin told the Radio Times that she did not report the alleged incident at the time as she did not feel "traumatised", but was no longer sure whether she was right to keep quiet.

She said she was astonished when the official put his hand on her breast after the one-on-one meeting, and dealt with the situation by "humiliating" him verbally, looking at his hand and saying: "Are you actually touching my breast?"

"He dropped his hand and laughed nervously," she said.

Responding her allegations, a spokesman for Mr Cameron said: "David Cameron was first made aware of this serious allegation yesterday. He was alarmed, shocked and concerned to learn of it and immediately informed the Cabinet Office.

"As is usual practice, the Cabinet Office will thoroughly investigate any complaint made."

Conservative former minister Anna Soubry described the alleged incident as "appalling", telling BBC Breakfast: "That's a criminal offence.

"Sounds to me like sexual assault. In that event, if she wants to, she should report it to the police.

"If she wants to, she should certainly report it to No.10.

MAN HELD AS 999 MEDICS ATTACKED

A 51-YEAR-OLD coach driver has been arrested after two paramedics were attacked in a row over parking as they treated a "seriously ill" patient.

The medics were reportedly pushed and threatened during the 10am attack in Camberwell, south London, yesterday.

A spokesman for the Met Police said the pair were shaken but did not suffer any serious injuries as a result of the attack.

Southwark Police tweeted: "@Ldn_Ambulance called for urgent assistance to #SE5 for their crew being assaulted by a coach driver! The crew assaulted while treating a seriously ill patient!"

They later tweeted: "The crew are shaken and will now not be able to finish their shift, but no serious injury thankfully #ProtectTheProtectors."

Revolting

Passer-by Gavin Higgins said the attacker had been driving a coach operated by Redwing.

He tweeted: "Pretty revolting behaviour towards anyone, let alone someone from the emergency services…"

Two hours later, he tweeted the ambulance service, saying: "I want to say you guys are amazing and I hope you don't have to deal with this s too often."

In a similar incident last week in Birmingham, a neighbour left a note on the windscreen of an ambulance as paramedics treated a critically ill patient.

The note read: "You may be saving lives but don't park your van in a stupid place and block my drive."

SI BEGS CHERYL TO COME BACK!

He's desperate to get her

WITH The X Factor suffering its lowest audience figures in 13 years, Simon Cowell is BEGGING Cheryl to rejoin the ITV show.

The music mogul has reportedly left current judges Sharon Osbourne, 65, and 39-year-old Nicole Scherzinger furious with his constant phone calls to her.

Simon is reportedly desperate to get the show back to its heyday and reckons bringing back Cheryl, 34, would revive it.

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

But the move hasn't gone down well with his fellow judges and Louis Walsh, 65, is allegedly playing peacekeeper as tensions are boiling over between the panel.

Fresh

A source said of 58-year-old Simon: "He's totally devastated about the ratings and he's turning to Cheryl, one of the only people he trusts, to help him find a way through.

"There is so much tension behind the scenes at the show that Cheryl's companionship is a breath of fresh air.

"Cheryl's made it clear she thinks some things needs to change on The X Factor, and even wants a shake-up of the judges."

However, Simon's close contact with Cheryl has led to him reportedly isolating himself from the rest of the staff.

The source added: "Simon has practically no friends at The X Factor other than Louis. There's real tension between him and Sharon.

"Louis has become a bit of a go-between with Simon, Sharon and Nicole, as he finds it hard to talk to them.

"Nicole is on edge. She knows Simon is talking to Cheryl about things that involve her."

...BUT LOUIS WANTS TULISA!

SIMON Cowell's fellow judge Louis Walsh would rather see Tulisa return to the judging panel than Cheryl.

Louis and Cheryl have never seen eye-to-eye and the judge either wants Nicole Scherzinger to keep her place or to see 29-year-old Tulisa (right) make a return.

When asked about a Cheryl comeback, Louis said: "We sometimes disagree on things, but she's a great judge.

"Nicole is the best, though. We want her back, we love her.

"Tulisa was great, she never gets any credit – she put Little Mix together, everybody forgets that."

Queen's glad Sir Mo is still up 'n' running

KING of the track Sir Mo Farah has received his knighthood from the Queen, calling the moment "incredible".

The four-time Olympic champion was honoured at an investiture ceremony at Buckingham Palace for services to athletics, and swapped his running kit for a top hat and morning suit.

Sir Mo, who has called time on his track career will be moving back to London from the U.S. to concentrate on running marathons.

Sir Mo (above), 34, said: "Over the years you dream of doing something in your career, to take it to the highest level. To be an Olympic champion – that was the dream.

"As an eight-year-old coming from Somalia and not speaking a word of English, to be recognised by your country, it's incredible."

On being handed the honour by the Queen, he said she asked him if he had retired.

"I said 'no, I am going to run the London Marathon'. She said that's marvellous."

MP: Ban hospital parking charges

"RIP-OFF" hospital car parking charges should be abolished, MPs have heard.

Tory MP Robert Halfon urged the Government to force trusts to scrap parking fees which are "the bane" of sick and vulnerable patients using hospitals.

Mr Halfon, proposing his Hospital Car Parking Charges (Abolition) Bill, said some hospitals were charging up to £500 a week to park.

However, Mr Halfon faced opposition from fellow Tory, former minister James Duddridge who said it would create a "funding gap".

But bisexual babe Cara isn't the only beauty to strip bare for a romp in Tulip Fever, which looks set to get moviegoers hot and horny.

Swedish stunna Alicia Vikander, 29, also stars in an equally sexy scene as she straddles another male co-star in a very convincing display.

WOMAN PRISON OFFICER'S NAKED PIC OF LAG

She had 2-year affair with inmate

A PRISON officer who had a nude photo on her mobile of an inmate she was in a relationship with has been jailed.

Jade McCarthy was caught trying to smuggle an addictive painkiller into the prison where she worked and also planned to pass phones to prisoners.

Clingfilm

The 27-year-old, who worked at HMP Doncaster, was found to have a number of small Sonika phones wrapped in clingfilm at her home in Bentley, Doncaster, South Yorks.

She was sentenced at Sheffield Crown Court this week to 27 months behind bars after admitting two counts of misconduct in a public office and one of conveying a List A article into prison.

BANGED UP: Jade McCarthy

By SAMANTHA YULE

news@sundaysport.co.uk

McCarthy was employed as a prison officer at the jail in 2015 when colleagues began to suspect she was in a relationship with a serving prisoner.

When she was arrested in November that year by South Yorkshire Police's prison investigation team, a blister pack of tramadol was found in her handbag in the jail.

A number of mobile phones were subsequently recovered from her home, and nude photos of an inmate, whom phone records revealed she contacted numerous times, were found on her handset.

Dishonest

Acting Detective Sergeant Alex Dorlin, from the prison investigation team, said: "McCarthy admitted being in a relationship with a prisoner and accepted responsibility for her dishonest and disappointing actions.

"Taking a pack of tramadol, an addictive painkiller, into a prison environment is not only reckless but potentially highly dangerous.

"The phones had been wrapped in cling film, clearly they were destined to be smuggled into prison as well."

Gino: I couldn't care less about I'm A Celeb

TELLY chef Gino D'Acampo slammed reality TV shows and said he definitely WON'T be tuning in to this year's I'm A Celebrity…Get Me Out Of Here!

Despite winning the jungle crown in 2009, the famous Italian says he won't be watching this year's crop of celebrities Down Under because he 'couldn't care less'.

Gino, 41, said: "I don't watch TV or reality shows because they bore me. I have better things to do."

After blasting the show that gained him a whole new legion of fans, he was quizzed over why he stepped foot in the Australian camp himself.

He replied: "I wanted a break from people, my phone and my business."

He insisted he was a 'Good Samaritan' and said he believed the girl was over 16.

Letts, of Gloucester, is the son of Graham Letts, the brother of convicted serial killer Rose West.

GRANDMA, 71, AND DUNKIRK FILM EXTRA GRANDSON, 19, HELD OVER MURDER OF MISSING GAIA

QUIZZED: Rosemary Dinch and (below) Nathan Elsey

news@sundaysport.co.uk

AN actor who appeared as an extra in war epic Dunkirk is being quizzed over the murder of missing Gaia Pope.

Nathan Elsey, 19, was arrested alongside his gran Rosemary Dinch, 71, who has been released on bail under investigation.

Neighbours say Gaia, 19, had been staying at Mrs Dinch's house in Swanage, Dorset, when she vanished without a trace.

In a TV interview before her arrest, the 71-year-old told the BBC how a distressed Gaia banged on her front door asking for help the day she disappeared.

STAR: Harry Styles

Rosemary said: "She looked upset. Very upset. I am just so pleased because I gave her a cuddle and then she responded.

"Of course I want to find her and I have no idea where she is. She just seems to have disappeared."

Nightmare

Her grandson Nathan last night remained in custody assisting police with enquiries, while Gaia's family described her disappearance as a "waking nightmare".

His arrest comes just months after he appeared as an extra in Christopher Nolan's film Dunkirk – which stars pop hunk Harry Styles.

On his casting website, the aspiring actor said the role as a World War II soldier gave him "more determination than ever to fulfil my dream of becoming an actor".

The pupil at Brockenhurst College is also studying for a Level 3 Performing Arts Diploma.

Gaia, from Langton Matravers, Dorset, was captured on CCTV running past a house on Morrison Road at 3.39pm last Tuesday.

The last reported sighting of Gaia was at an address in Manor Gardens on Morrison Road at around 4pm.

Despite a huge search operation, she hasn't been seen since.

Maya Pope-Sutherland, her sister, wrote a desperate post on social media revealing the teenager has epilepsy and had been suffering from seizures before she went missing.

Describing Gaia as an "angel", Maya said: "Gaia is either in medical crisis or is still running.

"Please, if you have seen her let us know, she last told us she was unwell and lost and that she was having lots of seizures."

The teenager is believed to have been feeling anxious about a man who was jailed for assaulting her two years ago getting released from prison.

She had been due to attend an appointment with her GP on the afternoon of November 7 but it is thought she never made it.

Comedian Russell Brand, who had a picture taken with Gaia at a protest meeting, retweeted a police appeal for information about her to his 12 million followers.

Statement

Last week Gaia's family, including her actress mum Natasha Pope who has appeared in Inspector Morse and The Bill, issued a statement urging her to contact them or police.

They said: "We are all frantic with worry Gaia and are desperate to know you are OK.

"You are not in any trouble and we just want to know you are somewhere safe."

Tractor man ploughs into parked cars

CARS were left damaged after a tractor drove through the middle of tightly-parked vehicles – as shocked bystanders watched on in horror.

The motors were parked on a road at Seathwaite, Cumbria, when the tractor, believed to be carrying a trailer full of sheep, is said to have ploughed through them.

And it left one car in particular with significant damage to its driver's side.

An eyewitness who saw the tractor drive through left a note on the car to explain to the absent owner what had happened.

He wrote: "The big tractor carrying a huge sheep trailer left the farm at the end of the road.

"I then saw him stop along the road. He couldn't get through the gap and couldn't turn round.

"He just went through damaging at least four cars – yours coming off worst."

KATE'S UNCLE IS WIFE BEATER

ROYAL: Kate Middleton is the niece of Mr Goldsmith

GUILTY: Gary Goldsmith with fourth wife Julie-Anne

Punched her in taxi row

By NINA MASSEY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

THE Duchess of Cambridge's uncle has admitted hitting his wife in the face and knocking her to the ground during a drunken argument after a charity event.

Gary Goldsmith, 52, pleaded guilty to one count of assault by beating when he appeared at Westminster Magistrates' Court yesterday.

Prosecutor Kate Shilton told the court Julie-Ann Goldsmith, 47, fell down after her husband threw what their taxi driver, Daniel Shepherd, said was a "left hook".

Slapping

She said: "The argument took place in the back of a taxi. They both got out of the taxi and he (Mr Shepherd) describes Mrs Goldsmith slapping her husband to the face.

"He then describes how Mr Goldsmith punches her hard in the face using a left hook.

"Mrs Goldsmith has then fallen backwards. He says 'She appears to be unconscious, she isn't moving'."

Mrs Goldsmith was knocked to the ground, where she remained with her eyes closed for around 15 seconds before waking up and staggering to her feet, the court was told.

After the incident, Goldsmith was "panicked and walking in and out of the house, trying to get her to go back in the house".

The court was told that, when the driver challenged Goldsmith over his actions, he then became aggressive towards him.

Goldsmith will be sentenced at the same court on November 21.

Chief Magistrate Emma Arbuthnot said: "I am excluding custody and looking at a community order.

"But I am really looking at how to protect this lady from this man."

Goldsmith is the younger brother of Carole Middleton, and attended the weddings of both Kate and Pippa.

He was brought up with his sister in Southall, west London.

CELEBRITY SNAPPA 'GROPED ACTORS' BOOBS ON SHOOTS'

DENIAL: Pascal Molliere

Women were too scared to report him, court told

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk

TWO actresses were sexually assaulted by a photographer but did not report him because they didn't want to damage their showbiz reputations, a court heard.

Pascal Molliere, 50, who boasted of taking portraits of screen legends Dame Judi Dench and Sir Ian McKellen, groped four women in his studio, it is claimed.

The hopeful actresses were recommended to Molliere by a casting director from the website Starnow.co.uk, where actors can post their profiles for auditions.

Two victims feared they'd face problems in the industry if they went to cops, Southwark Crown Court heard.

One said she did not want to make a complaint because the woman who recommended Molliere was a BBC casting director and a "big bod" in entertainment.

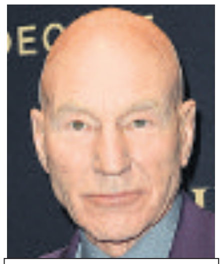
During the photo shoots, Molliere is said to have kissed the women and groped their breasts.

Fluff

In two police interviews, in 2012 and 2015, Molliere told officers he was an experienced photographer who had taken portraits of Hollywood royalty like X-Men star Sir Patrick Stewart.

Molliere denied all allegations, saying he was a "tactile person" and liked to create "rapport" with actors.

He said he sometimes tried to "remove fluff from their dresses".



ROYALTY: Patrick Stewart

Describing one woman's photo shoot, prosecutor Margia Mostafa said: "He suggested she remove her bra because the line was showing.

"She took her bra off in the bathroom and returned. He was staring at her and came to readjust her clothing.

"He put his hand on her top and yanked it down and was clasping her bare breasts and pulled her towards him and started kissing her."

Molliere, of Bedhampton, Hamps, denies four counts of sexual assault. The trial continues.

Demi pops out for DJ pal!

INSTAGRAM starlet Demi Rose Mawby turned heads when she wore an DEEP plunging dress to DJ Tom Zanetti's single launch.

One onlooker said: "Tom couldn't keep his eyes off her enormous knockers.

STRICTLY favourite Debbie McGee was left GUSHING over her hunky dance partner Giovanni Pernice.

Debbie, 59 (above), and Giovanni, 27, have been hounded by romance rumours after their steamy dance routines and raunchy flirting on the BBC dance show.

And Debs did nothing to quash rumours of a toy boy romance as she poured compliments on the Strictly Come Dancing professional and even compared him to her late hubby, magician Paul Daniels.

She said: "It's one in a million. We realised we wanted to dance together, but I don't think we realised the chemistry we'd have.

"I understand people think it's because he's such a hunk, which he is, but it's good seeing this good-looking Italian man everyday, but it's more to do with this unique friendship.

"I have a connection with Giovanni. He makes everyone feel special and that what's Paul used to do, that's what I love about him."

But she wants to make the next two years of Keeping Up with the Kardashians better than ever and shoot their fame, literally, into orbit.

IT'S THE SEXIEST LOVE ISLAND EVER...

Now that's more like it!

(Why can't ours be this hot?)

By BECCA STUBBS news@sundaysport.co.uk

THE UK was gripped by Love Island over the summer – but imagine how many more would've tuned in if it was anything like this?

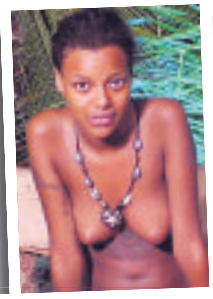
Viewers were glued to the raunchy antics of winners Kem Cetinay and Amber Davies, but their rampant shagging was tame compared to the German version.

ITV2's show was regularly investigated by Ofcom due to various complaints of too much sex, but the watchdog would have been swamped if the Krauts' effort was screened.

On the German show, the islanders spend their days in the nude, and tasks they're given can turn extremely naughty when they're sent off on a date with another naked hotty.

With the girls' ample assets hanging out, it's no surprise when the good-looking couples openly grope each other on the desert island.

Based on Love Island, this show is filmed on Tikehau, in the French Polynesia, and ITV2 could do a lot worse than follow the Huns' lead.



MP's sorry for 'ghetto boy' remark

A LABOUR MP has apologised for referring to a black Tory London Assembly member as a "token ghetto boy".

Kensington MP Emma Dent Coad, 63, provoked controversy after the 2010 comments about Shaun Bailey resurfaced.

Mr Bailey accused the MP of writing "racist, hate filled" remarks about him in the blog.

Ms Dent Coad (above) claimed in the piece that the then Hammersmith Tory parliamentary candidate had "stigmatised" the area he was born in by referring to it as a "ghetto".

She went on to write: "Who can say where this man will ever fit in, however hard he tries? One day he is the 'token ghetto boy' standing behind D Cameron, the next 'looking interested' beside G Osborne. "

She said: "If he was offended by me repeating what others have said then I do apologise. People have taken it the wrong way."

Man gets p*ssed by eating dinner

A FORMER soldier has become a 'human beer keg' after being diagnosed with a bizarre medical condition that causes his stomach to turn food into ALCOHOL after every meal.

Ray Lewis, 48, suffers from Auto-brewery Syndrome, which can leave him paralytic after eating.

The former U.S. army paratrooper, from Eugene, Oregon, lost his job as a truck driver after he overturned a vehicle "under the influence" and is fighting a conviction of drink-driving.

Unable to work, Mr Lewis is cared for by his wife Sierra and fitted with a GPS tracker in case he gets "intoxicated" after a meal and wanders off.

He said: "Most people have laughed at us when we say the words 'auto-brewery'.

"They only stop making jokes when they realise it is not a joke."

MEGHAN TO QUIT SUITS TO MARRY HARRY

BEAUTY: Meghan sizzles in top drama

ROYAL: Prince Harry

STUNNING actress Meghan Markle is leaving US drama Suits so she can marry Prince Harry, according to reports.

Sources told the Hollywood Reporter that the legal drama is close to confirming an eighth season, while Meghan and co-star Patrick J Adams "plot their exit".

By CATHERINE WYATT
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Markle and Adams' characters, Rachel Zane and Mike Ross, are engaged in the popular TV show, with Hello! magazine reporting that the couple's wedding has already been shot.

Wedding

Rumours have long circulated about the 36-year-old leaving the show, as she spends more time with her Royal lover in London, and predictions of a royal wedding on the horizon increase.

Harry has already taken the brunette to Buckingham Palace to meet his gran the Queen, whose permission they need in order to marry.

Meghan has also been involved in some charity work, like her boyfriend Harry.

She met the ginger royal in July last year, and said in a Vanity Fair article in September: "We're two people who are really happy and in love."

Gun victim sparks serial killer fears

A FOURTH person has been found shot dead in an area of a Florida city that may be targeted by a SERIAL KILLER.

Police in Tampa say residents of Seminole Heights reported hearing shots just before 5am yesterday, and when officers arrived, they found the body of a man in the street.

A spokesman said that detectives cannot immediately say whether the shooting is related to last month's killings, where three people were gunned down in a short 10-day period.

All three were alone and had stepped off a bus when they were shot dead at night for no apparent reason – none of the victims were robbed.

Cops have already released CCTV of a hooded suspect taken after two of the murders.

Top chef slams amateur cooks

SWEARY TV chef Gordon Ramsay has laid into amateur chefs' meals on social media – blasting their worst cooking attempts.

Gordon, 51, is arguably just as famous for his potty mouth as he is for his Michelin stars, and he's been heavily criticising food fans on social media.

His hilarious remarks attract thousands of likes and retweets, and now wannabe chefs send photos of their DELIBERATELY stomach-churning meals so they can receive a put-down from one of the world's best chefs.

Here's a selection of his funniest meal mocking comments – including "chicken shitta masala" and "oven baked fake turds"…

Cop issues parking ticket – to himself!

AN embarrassed cop slapped a parking ticket on a car parked in a disabled bay – even though it was his OWN car.

Milwaukee County Sheriff David Clarke explained that he parked his vehicle near the Milwaukee County War Memorial for a Veterans Day ceremony.

According to Clarke, he instructed a fellow officer to move the vehicle to another location.

But for some unknown reason, that request was not followed through.

After fining himself $35, Clarke said: "The rules are the same for my squad as any car, except in an emergency or official business but not in a handicap area."

Accepting the blame, he added: "Parking there is inexcusable."

LESBIANS KILLED AS THEY ROW ON M-WAY

LINKED: Tanaysha and Victoria

By COLIN HURST

news@sundaysport.co.uk

TWO lesbians were killed and a third injured after they were hit by a car as they argued in the road.

Tanaysha Troutman, 28, and Victoria Patten, 33, were killed instantly after a car ploughed into them as they rowed in the middle of a seven-lane highway.

The pair – said to be a couple – had pulled over on the main road and stepped out of their vehicle to have a furious row, said police.

Three-way

The argument spilled into the traffic and a second car, driven by Arlene Cruz, 38 – believed to part of the three-way love-triangle – also pulled in and joined the fight.

All three were struck by Hyundai driver Guillermo Ruiz, 22, who admitted drinking earlier.

Tanaysha's uncle Anthony Troutman said: "We're taking it pretty hard. When we first heard how it happened, we wondered why she had to get out of the car, why there, why then? All those whys come into place."

Cruz received injuries that are not life-threatening and is being treated at Tampa General Hospital in Florida.

A Sheriff's Office spokesman said the argument in the road arose from a "love triangle".

The women had parked in a lane that ran through a busy residential area of the city.

Friends described Troutman and Patten as a couple in social media posts mourning their deaths.

They had been telling friends on Facebook they were linked.

Uber ban for Nicole after boozy mishap

SEXY singer Nicole Scherzinger revealed she's BANNED from taxi firm Uber after getting too pissed.

The X Factor judge (above), 39, says the company blacklisted her after her takeaway food exploded during a heavy night out.

Nicole explained: "I've been blacklisted from Uber because, after drinking one night, I made my driver go all over LA looking for an open branch of Taco Bell.

"Then I ordered so much food it exploded over the back seat."

Brunette babe Nicole was slammed by X Factor fans over the weekend after she told nearly every contestant that they sang her "favourite song".

It was George Michael week on the ITV singing contest with all 12 acts taking on one of the late Wham! singer's hits.

After each one Nicole told the act it was her fave by the star, leading to Twitter criticism.

Meanwhile, fellow judge Sharon Osbourne became emotional and broke down in tears.

'Jesus Christ' shook cock at passing cars

A MAN nicked by cops after he was caught flashing his knob in the street claimed to be JESUS CHRIST.

Terry Brothers, 52, was arrested after he was found in just his underwear outside an off license.

When officers asked him what he thought he was doing, Brothers would only say: "I am Jesus Christ."

A woman had rung emergency services to report that she saw a naked man shaking his private parts at passing cars for about 20 minutes before he put his underwear back on.

Brothers, from Orlando, Florida, faces charges of exposure of sexual organs.

A police source said of the arrest: "We're almost certain drink had been taken."

SUSANNA REID'S SCHOOL IN SEX ABUSE PROBE

OLD GIRL: TV star went to St Paul's

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

SUSANNA Reid and Rachel Weisz's former girls' school has been hit by historic sex abuse claims sparked by Hollywood's #MeToo social media campaign.

St Paul's Girls' School, in Hammersmith, West London, has been contacted by at least two former pupils who claim they were sexually abused between the 1970s and 1990s.

The £24,000-a-year school's High Mistress, Sarah Fletcher, has warned former pupils to identify people who are responsible for abuse.

Former pupils – called Old Paulinas – include Margaret Thatcher's daughter, Carol, as well as Good Morning Britain host Susanna Reid and actress Rachel Weisz.

There is no suggestion any of those three suffered abuse during their time at the school.

OLD GIRL: Rachel Weisz

Personal

In a letter to former students at the school, Sarah Fletcher wrote: "They [former pupils] have told us of past sexual abuse at St Paul's.

"Two wrote from personal experience, others about what they had heard from friends.

"The allegations relate to a period spanning from the 1970s to 1990s.

"We immediately passed the information on to the relevant authorities and we remain in close contact with them."

A spokeswoman for the school said: "We can confirm that the School recently received some allegations of past abuse.

"While these refer to events in the 1970s and 1990s, we take any information of this nature extremely seriously and have passed all the details immediately to the relevant authorities, with whom we remain in close contact."

Jemma's bustin' for a splash!

INKED-UP beauty Jemma Lucy sizzled in the sea as she paraded her enhanced assets in a plunging swimsuit.

The 29-year-old reality star hit the shores of Lanzarote this week in a barely-there nude coloured one-piece.

In one saucy display, Jemma almost flashed her fanny as her tiny costume rode up her leg – and she later bent over to splash water all over her impressive chest.

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

REALITY TV beauty Charlotte Crosby got naked for a raunchy social media video which saw her peachy bare bum jiggling through her house.

Former Geordie Shore stunna Charlotte, 27, teased fans with a clip from her 2018 calendar shoot wearing nothing but thigh-high boots as she paraded through her home naked.

However, she's not the only celebrity who's given us an eyeful of their bare bottom – plenty of them have been more than eager to show off their derrieres.

Like fellow reality babe Kim Kardashian, who 'broke the internet' when she unveiled her very curvy rear-end for a mag cover.

So on this and following pages we print the arses of A-listers and famous others who've been happy to show them for your pleasure...

EMILY RATAJKOWSKI

That may be because the stunning 27-year-old looks to be much better suited to the beach-bum lifestyle.

The lads' mag favourite proved it by stripping down to her skimpy thong yet again for a dip in the sea.

Fake porn agent tricked girls into sex at pretend auditions

Matt: My mile high wk on jet!

RADIO presenter Matt Richardson confessed to WANKING on a plane after admitting he's a half member of the Mile High Club.

The former Xtra Factor host, 26, admitted to his solo sex session when quizzed about his experience on planes.

When asked if he was a member of the elusive Mile High club, Matt answered: "No. Well, not with another person!

"So I suppose I'm a member of the half-a-mile-high club. I was coming back from Australia and it was really boring and far…"

Matt also hinted his initiation into the half-a-mile-high club could have been when he was on the way home from presenting the I'm A Celebrity spin-off show.

He said everyone else on the plane went to sleep and he was so bored on the flight home he tried every drink on board.

Comedian Matt (above) added: "I tried every drink on the menu. I was smashed by the end!"

Biggins, 68, stars in ITV's new documentary Gone To Pot, which sees a group of famous older people travel around America smoking weed.

I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here!* winner Biggins (above) said: "Television executives are realising all these young reality stars are crap.

CASH LURE: Hickey promised lucrative porn jobs

A MAN who pretended to be a PORN AGENT to trick women into SHAGGING him is accused of raping several women.

Michael-Jon Matthew Hickey could face trial this month over his elaborate porn agency scam which tricked tons of women into bonking him.

The 41-year-old Seattle journalist has pleaded not guilty to the rape charges and claims any sex he had with his alleged victims was consensual.

Police say at least six women have accused Hickey of forcing them into sex – but police reckon there could be dozens of victims.

By BECCA STUBBS

becca@sundaysport.co.uk

His victims claim they were duped into meeting Hickey and posing for nude photos after he lured them to his apartment by pretending to be a female porn recruiter.

Hickey's scam was uncovered when the Seattle publication The Stranger – who Hickey once worked for – began investigating claims the victim had posted on social media.

Nude

Investigators found Hickey had posed as a female porn agent called Deja Stwalley, who contacted women on Facebook claiming to run a talent company called 'New Seattle Talent'.

He also posted ads on Craigslist in Seattle and Las Vegas, offering to line women up with high-paying jobs in the adult entertainment industry.

He would assure the women that they could earn anywhere from $1,200 to $3,500 a day – but to be considered for these opportunities, they needed to 'audition with one of our specially chosen "hunks".'

The fake audition was a three-step process that included a job interview in which the women presented their driver's license and answered questions about what their sexual preferences were.

Women would then participate in a nude photo shoot with Hickey, which alleged victims were told were 'mug shots' that were sent to 'studio producers and videographers to see what they've got to work with'.

At the final stage of the audition, women had to have sex with Hickey, it is claimed, with his alter-ego Stwalley telling the women that the sex was an 'attitude test'.

Scarred

One of the friends of his alleged victim said: "She had dreams of earning a fortune and thought porn was a way into earning that money.

"She's been left scarred and devastated after learning she shagged that bloke for nothing.

"It's disgusting what he's done."

Hickey is jailed at a correctional facility while awaiting trial.

TEACHER SUCKED OFF BOY IN HER CAR

NICKED: Marx in back of cop car after her arrest

Pretty blonde also sent nude pics to pupil

POLICE marched into a classroom mid-lesson to haul off a young blonde teacher accused of having sex with two of her teenage pupils.

Madeline Marx, 23, is believed to have groomed the pair, aged 16 and 17, on Snapchat and Instagram.

She was midway through teaching the class – which included the boys she is said to have sex with – at Fairmont High School in Kettering, Ohio, when cops burst in and arrested her.

She is said to have had sex with the boys on separate occasions in a car park.

She also sent one of the boys naked pictures of herself on the social media sites, police say.

Discount

Marx has now been charged with two counts of sexual battery.

She is accused of having oral sex with a 17-year-old male student in July and sexual intercourse with a 16-year-old male student in September.

Neither incident took place on school property.

During her interview with detectives, Marx admitted having oral sex with a student in her car in the parking area outside a discount store and added that she sent "several nude pictures" through Snapchat and Instagram to the same student.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

She also admitted to having intercourse with the other student in an apartment building car park.

"Teachers are entrusted with the responsibility of educating children who are becoming young adults," prosecutor Mat Heck said.

"This defendant took advantage of her position and developed a sexual relationship with minor students."

Police spokesman Rhett Stokes said: "We were called by the school and responded immediately.

"It's important in these cases that allegations of this nature are treated with urgency.

"That's why the classroom arrest was made. It wasn't a publicity stunt like some people have suggested."

Suspended

School administrator Scott Inskeep said: "We became aware she was possibly involved with inappropriate activities with a juvenile.

"We called in the cops and authorised the classroom arrest. When we become aware of them, we will remove those people and not have them around students."

Marx, who is awaiting trial, has been suspended while investigations continue.

STRICTLY ALEX: MY AGONY OVER ASTON EXIT

(Or...I'm still in it, folks!)

ALEXANDRA Burke has opened up about how "heartbreaking" it was to perform on Strictly Come Dancing without friend Aston Merrygold.

The ex-JLS star (right) was one of the favourites to win the competition when he was controversially sent packing.

The 29-year-old made his shock exit after judge Shirley Ballas had the final, casting vote – following a dance off with Mollie King.

New favourite Burke (left), who won The X Factor in the same year JLS were runners-up, said: "It was heart-breaking, to be honest.

"I'm very close to Aston and preparing for the live show without him was really hard.

"Aston going was a shock. Big-time. Seeing someone so talented leave the competition reminded us all that it could be any one of us."

Aston and partner Janette Manrara were forced to perform in the dance off after judge Craig Revel Horwood gave them a measly four points for their Viennese Waltz.

TV's Homer to blame for thick dads

HOMER Simpson has been blamed for reinforcing negative gender stereotypes about "hapless" dads.

Former minister Jo Swinson told MPs during a debate on International Men's Day that characters like the bumbling Simpsons' dad had played a role in "undermining" men's roles as fathers.

The deputy Liberal Democrat leader was supported by Schools Minister Nick Gibb who said that although light-hearted, TV programmes and ads can "reinforce damage".

Ms Swinson said: "We need to go quite early in life to look at the stereotypes that are placed on boys from the earliest months and years of their lives.

She added: "Men's roles as fathers in our society is an incredibly important role that has often been dismissed and undermined.

"You just look at some of the stereotypes in popular culture, the Homer Simpson type of dads just being hapless not being able to be up to the job."

LEGLESS MAN IS CAUGHT SHAGGING IN SHOP DOORWAY

A HORNY amputee was caught on camera SHAGGING a woman in the middle of a shop doorway.

The randy fella didn't let his lack of legs get in the way getting his end away and got down to business with an equally lusty lass in broad daylight.

Their romp was caught on camera by a passer-by, but the amorous couple didn't seem fazed by the shocked witnesses recording their moment of frenzied intimacy.

Instead, the plucky guy carried on thrusting into his Johnson into the busty brunette friend in full view of anyone on the road.

Dirty

Footage filmed by onlookers emerged online this week and it is believed the action took place in San Antonio, Texas.

It shows the couple get hot and heavy on the dirty ground with the legless man grinding against the woman, who desperately tries to protect her modesty by pulling down her frock.

His wheelchair can be seen next to the couple during their steamy encounter.

The minute-long video was posted on LiveLeak and has quickly gone viral with thousands of people sharing the X-rated clip.

Tenant says eviction over squirrel is nuts

A TENANT says he has been threatened with eviction by landlords who have banned him from living with a SQUIRREL.

Ryan Boylan, 40, said they have told him to give up his "emotional support" squirrel or face being kicked out.

They claim he is violating the terms of his lease by keeping an exotic animal, but Boylan insists he needs the rodent to help him recover from post-traumatic stress disorder.

Boylan saved the squirrel – named Brutis – as Hurricane Matthew travelled up the coast of Florida last year.

He even has a doctor's note which explains he has trouble with certain situations and prescribes an emotional support animal "to help alleviate these challenges".

Cheeky

She said: "I use my phone for everything. I'd be lost without it and I've always got it at my side.

"Sometimes I'll take some cheeky pictures in my underwear and post them on my Twitter or Facebook page.

"I like to treat my followers every now and then with a picture of my boobs or my bum!"

CLOO MUST BE JOKING!

Co-star slams George's plans to run for Pres

By BECCA STUBBS becca@sundaysport.co.uk

NO VOTE: Julianne can't bear thought of Clooney as leader

OSCAR-winning actress Julianne Moore says she wouldn't back ANY of her Hollywood colleagues if they decided to run for US President.

Julianne, 56, stars in new film Surburbicon with iconic actor George Clooney, who has been tipped to run for office in 2020.

However, Julianne says she won't be lending her support to George if he makes a bid for the White House.

She said: "Honestly, I can't bear it, this idea of relating leaders with entertainment figures.

Tensions

"What you want is a president who is experienced in government. You don't want a reality star person.

"I don't even want to joke about movie stars being a president of the United States."

Julianne has also been heavily critical of Donald Trump's reign.

Her new film, Surburbicon, was filmed during the 2016 presidential campaigns and centres on the racial tensions rife throughout the US.

Flame-haired beauty Julianne added: "What George is saying in this movie is how easy it is to look the other way while horrific stuff is happening outside your door.

"I can only talk as an individual but I believe he (Trump) is corrupt and I also believe that there was a Russian interference in the election."

‘Sex kit’ predator jailed for 12 years

A SEXUAL predator who dragged a woman from the street to drug and rape her in her own flat has been jailed after he used her contactless bank card in a McDonald’s.

Daniel Wallace (above), 33, followed his victim, aged in her 20s, to her home in Canonbury, north London, in the early hours of the morning after she had been out with friends.

A court heard he was carrying a ‘rape kit’ of lubricants, the drug GHB and Viagra, to carry out the sickening attack before raiding her flat and taking her bank card, which led to his arrest after he used it in the diner.

His victim remembers little of the attack apart from lying on her sofa unable to move and attempting to push the man off her.

Wallace, of Hoxton, east London, denied rape and burglary but was convicted by a jury at Blackfriars Crown Court and sentenced to 12 years behind bars.

DC Colin Hutton said: “Wallace is a dangerous sexual predator. The items found on him upon his arrest indicates that he may have been planning to carry out similar offences in the future.”

Boffins’ killer robot warning

ACADEMICS have put together a short film warning of the dangers of KILLER robots.

Boffins at the University of California, in Berkley, are concerned about the increasing use of autonomous weapons – such as drones, tanks and automated machine guns.

Artificial intelligence expert Stuart Russell said: “The technology illustrated in the film is not science fiction.

“In fact, it is easier to achieve than self-driving cars – which require far higher standards of performance.”

NEIGHBOUR’S KNIFE FURY IN ROW OVER PARCEL

Victim ‘partly disembowelled in stab horror’

By COLIN HURST colin@sundaysport.co.uk

A MAN was “partially disembowelled” by a knife-wielding neighbour in a bizarre row over a parcel delivery.

Alessandro Nicholls, 50, launched a frenzied attack on Mike Williams, 58, when the two clashed over the package which had been delivered to Nicholls, because Mr Williams was out at the time.

When Mr Williams went to pick it up, Nicholls denied any knowledge of it but eventually it was produced and Williams noticed it had been opened.

Mr Williams began to shout abuse and swear at Nicholls about him opening the parcel but then returned home.

At Manchester Crown Court prosecutor Alaric Bassano said: “Mr Williams’ conduct is not to be condoned.

“But it does not begin to excuse or justify, or even, it is submitted, significantly mitigate what the defendant did later that day.”

Drunk

Six hours after the first row Nicholls, who was by now drunk, went to Mr Williams’s house armed with a baseball bat and a knife.

As Mr Williams opened his door Nicholls shouted: “You fking bastard, I’m going to kill you!”, then lunged at him with the knife.

Mr Williams suffered six stab wounds to his arm, neck and chest.

Mr Williams managed to escape when he punched Nicholls to the floor and his attacker ran off back to his house.

Mr Bassano said Mr Williams’s “abdominal contents were visible through the lower chest wound”, a life-threatening injury which required an emergency hospital operation.

Nicholls, of Middleton, Manchester, was initially charged with attempted murder but pleaded guilty to wounding with intent.

He was jailed for 13 years.

Rossi: I've never cried over Rick

ROCKER Francis Rossi says he has still not cried following the death of his Status Quo band mate Rick Parfitt nearly a year ago.

Parfitt was 68 when he died from a severe infection in hospital on Christmas Eve.

Rossi, 68 (above) said he felt his pal had already died several months earlier when he suffered a heart attack in Turkey, forcing him to cancel live shows.

Francis said: "He died for us then. When he finally got over that a little, he wasn't the same person he was.

"I got home Christmas Eve and I was talking to my manager and he said Rick had gone.

"I heard in my mind Rick say, 'There you go, at least I didn't die on a show day'. That'd be Rick. We had that weird humour going on between us.

"Some people said I haven't cried yet for Rick. I won't. It's just not what we did or how we were.

"We used to joke about the fact he would go, we would sit there giggling, it was funny."

Teacher walks free after 'sex with lad, 14, on Grindr' case

A FORMER trainee teacher who tried to have sex with a 14-year-old he met on gay dating app Grindr was spared jail after a judge said he sympathised with him as he had "succumbed to temptation".

Daniel Dulake, 23 (above), tried to coax the teen into having sex with him during a conversation last year.

Police originally arrested Dulake and seized his phone in February after a fellow Grindr user showed him abuse pics online.

Dulake served as a prosecution witness against the other man but was later charged with attempting to cause or incite a child to engage in sexual activity after officers examined his phone.

He denied the charge but was convicted at The Old Bailey.

Judge Nicholas Cooke, QC, said: "I have some sympathy because you succumbed to temptation."

Dulake, of Epsom, Surrey, was given an eight-month sentence, suspended for two years, and must carry out rehabiliation activities for 30 days.

Horror woodchip death shocks cops

A HAPLESS handyman has been killed after he accidentally fell into a WOODCHIPPER.

The 54-year-old, from Queensland, Australia, was clearing the driveway of a home in Gympie, north of Brisbane, when the incident occurred.

He was with two pals on Sunday night, helping a neighbour to clear their drive, but fell into the chipper and died.

A police spokesman said: "It's an horrendous thing to have to attend as a police officer – any sudden death – but these circumstances were absolutely shocking.

"Everyone's obviously very distressed and we're still trying to work out the circumstances as to who has seen what."

According to police, the man died instantly and his death is currently being treated as an accident.

BBC PORN BABES TOPLESS!

ACTING UP: Chessie

RED-HOT: Ella on the new Beeb series

By BECCA STUBBS becca@sundaysport.co.uk

ADULT performers Ella Hughes and Chessie Kay star in a naughty new BBC documentary – and we've got them UNCOVERED.

Both babes feature in new BBC3 series Sex Map of Britain and despite being shown in their smalls, we'll show you the bare boobs the Beeb won't dare to!

Ella, 22, won the Girl of the Year gong at this year's Paul Raymond Awards and chats about her decision to postpone doing her law degree to pursue a career in porn on the show.

Meanwhile blonde bombshell Chessie, 25, talks about her dream of becoming an actress, but struggled to get on in the mainstream and saw porn as a perfect acting opportunity.

Anal

She's seen starring in fetish porn films in the new documentary and proudly showed off her 'rope marks' from a very X-rated photo shoot.

Despite starring in Cramming Knockers and Cum Perfection Chessie said on the BBC3 show that she wouldn't do anal.

She said: "My boundaries are more personal. I don't do anal and I'm not going to do it for porn. Some things you should leave outside of work."

Red-haired firecracker Ella is seen on the series selling her "dirtier the better" undies and talking sex with clients on her webcam.

Although the Beeb were happy to show the girls in their underwear, they weren't prepared to show the stunnas with their norks out.

So here's the topless totty the BBC wouldn't show you…

Sick cannibal who drinks blood and ate his victim's brain is dubbed...

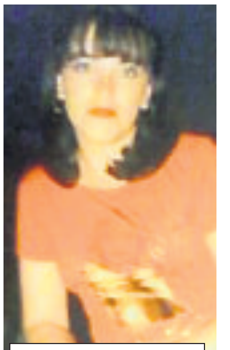
THE VAMPIRE ZOMBIE KILLER!

GRISLY: Blood spattered face of Dmitry Luchin

By BECCA STUBBS becca@sundaysport.co.uk

A RUSSIAN cannibal has been dubbed the VAMPIRE ZOMBIE KILLER after he butchered his pal, fried and ate her brains and washed it down with a glass of her blood.

Dmitry Luchin, 21, is accused of beating a 45-year-old woman, named as Olga B, to death in a gruesome crime that led the Russian media to give him his own macabre nickname.



VICTIM: Tragic Olga B

In March this year, Luchin was at the apartment of his victim. The two were talking and drinking wine to celebrate International Women's Day.

When the woman fell asleep, Luchin said something 'clicked' in his mind and he attempted to suffocate her with a pillow.

When she resisted, he decided to have a smoke before returning to smash her repeatedly over the head with a wine bottle.

After bashing her unconscious, Luchin had another cigarette before waking her up and then repeatedly hitting her in the head with the wine bottle until he killed her.

Not content with murdering the defenceless woman, he then dipped his finger in her blood and drew a pentagram symbol on her door.

He got a meat cleaver from the kitchen and began hacking away at the woman's head until it opened up, with her brain exposed.

In a gruesome twist, he cut off a piece of her brain, fried it up and scoffed it before going back for a second portion.

Abused

Luchin then used a glass to collect blood flowing from the woman's head and drank it.

He told police: "I liked the taste of her brain. I decided to give it another try.

"Then I drained some of her blood into a glass and picked up more that had spilled onto the floor.

"I needed blood to drink with my food."

Despite beating her to death with a wine bottle, eating her brain and drinking her blood, Luchin still wasn't satisfied.

He then sexually abused the corpse with a wine bottle, cut off her nipples, slit open her stomach until her organs fell out, then cut off her ears.

Six hours after the brutal slaying, he left with the victim's tablet computer, a can of hair spray and £1.90.

Former Russian army conscript Luchin is accused of murder and desecration of the dead.

He faces life in prison if convicted.

Police say he has confessed to the crimes, but a trial is scheduled for next year and he has yet to officially enter a plea.

A policeman on the case said: "This has to be the most appalling murder anyone can imagine."

Jungle-bound Stan has never seen the show

FORMER politician Stanley Johnson has said he has never watched I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! and knows "nothing about it", despite heading into the jungle for the new series.

The father of Foreign Secretary Boris Johnson also said he hopes to shed some weight while taking part in the ITV show.

Johnson (above), 77, said: "I have to tell you I have never watched the show.

"It's all totally new to me, I know absolutely nothing about it but I've been told about it and obviously I am ready to give it a go."

On whether he is afraid of challenges such as the infamous Bushtucker Trials, he said: "I don't think I am dreading anything. I am looking forward to being with the fellow competitors. I say that as it is a competition, isn't it?"

The reality series is known for seeing its stars lose weight as they survive on a diet of basic rations, and Johnson said: "I'm looking forward to losing half a stone. No, seriously I am."

Burns victim's lit match gaffe

A MAN suffered burns after going to investigate the smell of gas and using a lit MATCH to help him see his way.

Fire chief Mark Ford said the householder had smelled the odour added to natural gas and went to look for a source.

He explained: "He'd recently fitted a boiler but smelt that something was wrong.

"He went down there and he used a match, lit, to find the leak.

"The gas ignited and the burst of flames caught the man's face.

"He had first degree burns to his face and forearms and was taken to a local hospital for treatment."

The incident happened on Sunday evening in Port Huron, Michigan.

CURVY cover girl Leah Francis can't get enough of being NAKED and hardly ever wears clothes when she's quietly wandering around the house.

Southampton stunna Leah, 28, is a secret nudist and lives on her own just so she can roam free in her house.

She said: "Clothes are a pain, so I prefer to be naked. I'm always naked! I'm a bit of a fan of nudity, in fact I love it!

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

"It's the reason why I live on my own, so I can walk around naked with no interruptions.

Steamy

"I'm not the sort to flash out of the window, but there's always a secret thrill that maybe someone might catch a quick eyeful."

Leah posed up a storm for the Midweek Sport and got all steamy during a very sexy shower shoot, even pressing her 34GG norks against the glass.

And she gave readers some brilliant advice when it comes to getting the most out of doggy style shagging.

She added: "In doggy style, the bloke usually does all the work and the women are just lazy – they just take it.

"But if you're good, you bang your bum back against the man.

"Depending on how fast you can control it, you can make a man explode!"

Having an orgy bea
in sex fantasy list

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

THE most common sex fantasies have been revealed... and ORGIES are the top of most people's lists.

A new survey, by mobile dating app Doppler, quizzed 400 men and women on their secret sex fetishes and what they fantasise about doing between the sheets.

Doppler asked 241 women and 159 men and found that plenty of us have the same desires when it comes to experimental shagging.

Having sex with multiple people topped the list, with 17.6 per cent of those quizzed dreaming about a threesome, foursome and even fivesome.

Shagging a celebrity crush came in a close second, with 16.5% of people saying bonking a famous face was their hidden fantasy.

However, while 38% of men who answered the survey said they wanted a romp with multiple people at the same time, only 8% of women said the same.

Wild

When it came to having sex with a celebrity crush, the genders felt similar – with 14% of women daydreaming about it, while12% of fellas feel the same.

As well as those two fantasies, others were also common – with 14% of those quizzed expressing an interest in role play.

Thanks to the Fifty Shades of Grey franchise, 7.7% of people wanted to experiment with S&M and bondage bonks.

More than 6% of people fantasised about having an affair behind their spouses back, while 3% were turned on by the thought of public sex.

Sexual orientation wasn't specified in the results of the survey, but 4% of those quizzed said they had wild thoughts about a 'same-sex encounter'.

A source analysing the results from Doppler said: "Fantasy is a healthy part of any sex life, but because of how we grow up they can often feel like something dirty, that needs to be hidden.

"This research does give us a glimpse into the sexual fantasies of our peers, and hopefully helps some people feel less alone."

We asked three Sport stunnas what they thought of these results...

Alexis Cole says...

> I'M surprised only three per cent of people fantasise about having sex in public because, for me, it's the biggest thrill.
> There's nothing quite like bonking in the outdoors, knowing a stranger could catch you in the act at any point!

Candice Cresswell says...

> I'M pleased that so many people want to have an orgy!
> I'd love to have one – with both men and women – to get the best of both worlds.
> If anyone's having one, count me in!

ts bonking a celeb

Sabrina Murphy says...

'S&M and light bondage sex gets me going every time. I love being tied up, handcuffed and then lightly spanked. It gets me going in seconds.'

#SEX HEALTH

If you want to last longer in bed, try being a tosser!

By BECCA STUBBS

becca@sundaysport.co.uk

STAMINA is a hot topic when it comes to men and sex – but how can fellas increase the length of time they last between the sheets?

Fed up of being a one-minute wonder or simply want to last longer in the sack? A new study has revealed that changing the way men WANK can increase stamina levels.

Generally, if a man isn't lasting as long as he wants it means he's experiencing early ejaculation, or doesn't feel physically able to have the kind of sex he wants.

In some cases, a man's wanking technique may hinder his ability to enjoy partnered sex and changing solo sessions can help them last longer.

Holding the cock too tightly or not giving the penis enough lubrication during a self-loving session can hinder the performance when it matters.

Research also advises that if people want to try shagging somewhere else, for example in the shower, then they must first get used to wanking there.

Clinical therapist Eric Marlowe Garrison said: "I always tell people, if you're going to have sex on a chandelier, practise masturbating on the chandelier."

Foreplay

Imitating the situation of actual penetrative sex while wanking off can help stamina last longer when the situation occurs.

Sport stunna Kelly Gilhooley says she often teases her fella with foreplay before the main event to help him last longer in the sack.

The Salford cracker said: "I love spending ages down there and bring him to near completion with my hands or my mouth before bonking him.

"I find getting him hard and in the mood beforehand always helps him last longer – and if they last longer I always enjoy it more, so what's not to like.

"I agree with the results. I shagged my man in the shower once and he blew his load in seconds.

"Next time, I wanked him off in there and the third time we tried bonking again and he lasted ages and made me cum twice!

"Practice definitely makes perfect!"

#MY SEX FANTASY

‘It would be sexy to give a guy a blowjob in the back row of the cinema’

BUSTY blonde Alexa Grace is no stranger to sex fantasies – because she spends MOST of her time thinking about shagging!

The saucy minx, 22, confessed she almost always feels HORNY and loves thinking up naughty ways to spice up her sex life.

And that includes enjoying a good bonking in places you probably shouldn’t be seen getting down and dirty!

By FRANCESCA GOSLING
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The Leicester-born babe posed in skimpy knickers for an EXCLUSIVE photoshoot for Midweek Sport.

Alexa also revealed her steamiest fantasy of all – having sex in the cinema.

And the daredevil 32C beauty reckons it’s all about the THRILL of being caught in the act!

She said: “They say men think about sex every seven seconds – and I probably think about it that often too!

Horny

“I am pretty imaginative and love coming up with the naughtiest places I can think of – there’s something really horny about being an exhibitionist.

“A lot of girls seem to have the same boring old fantasies, but mine is pretty different.

“I am a big fan of having sex where you know you shouldn’t, so the cinema is top of my list.

“It turns me on knowing someone could catch you at any moment. You’d have to be so quiet, or not, who knows?

“It would be really sexy to give a guy a blowjob in the back row while everyone else was watching the movie.

“Then slipping your knickers off and climbing on top – it gets me all excited just thinking about it!”

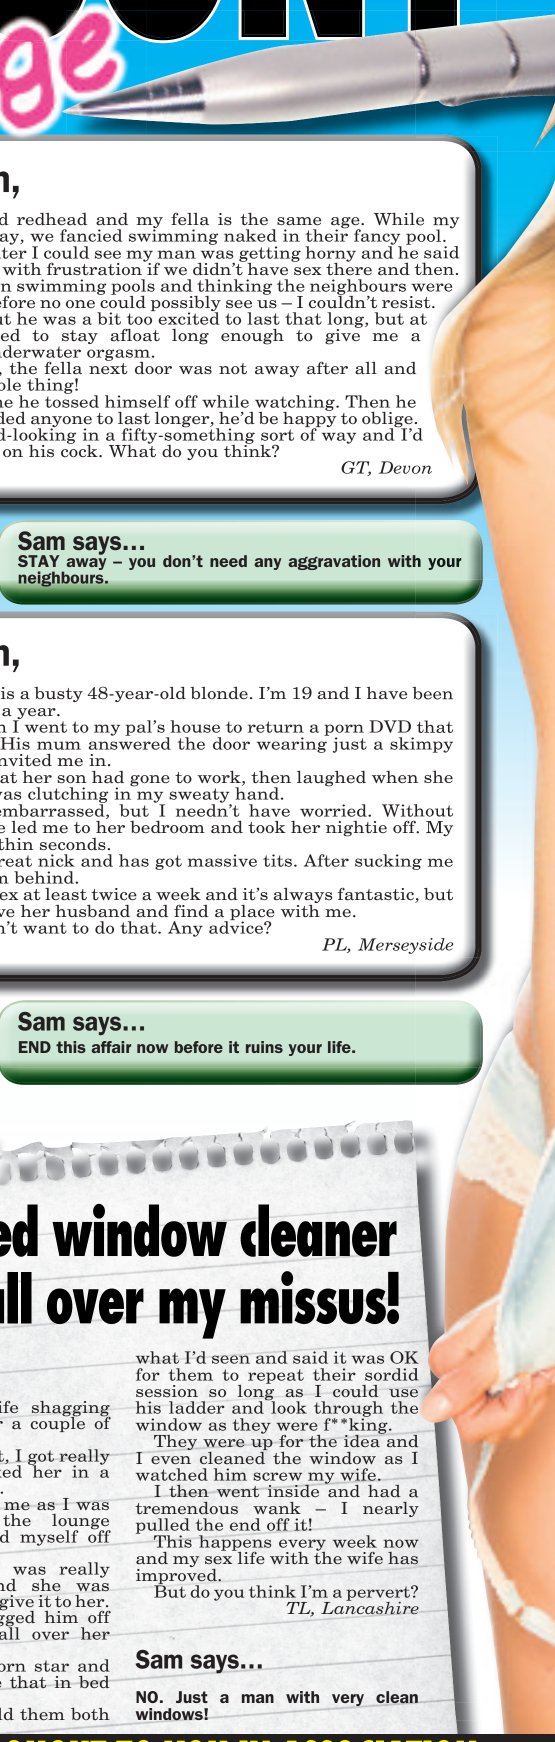
THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page



Dear Sam,

I'M a 22-year-old redhead and my fella is the same age. While my parents were away, we fancied swimming naked in their fancy pool.

In the clear water I could see my man was getting horny and he said that he'd go mad with frustration if we didn't have sex there and then.

I love doing it in swimming pools and thinking the neighbours were away – and therefore no one could possibly see us – I couldn't resist.

As it turned out he was a bit too excited to last that long, but at least he managed to stay afloat long enough to give me a mind-blowing underwater orgasm.

Unfortunately, the fella next door was not away after all and had seen the whole thing!

He even told me he tossed himself off while watching. Then he said if I ever needed anyone to last longer, he'd be happy to oblige.

He's quite good-looking in a fifty-something sort of way and I'd like to have a go on his cock. What do you think?

GT, Devon

Sam says…

STAY away – you don't need any aggravation with your neighbours.

Dear Sam,

MY mate's mum is a busty 48-year-old blonde. I'm 19 and I have been screwing her for a year.

It started when I went to my pal's house to return a porn DVD that I had borrowed. His mum answered the door wearing just a skimpy nightdress and invited me in.

She told me that her son had gone to work, then laughed when she saw the DVD I was clutching in my sweaty hand.

I was really embarrassed, but I needn't have worried. Without another word she led me to her bedroom and took her nightie off. My cock was stiff within seconds.

She's still in great nick and has got massive tits. After sucking me off, I did her from behind.

We now have sex at least twice a week and it's always fantastic, but she wants to leave her husband and find a place with me.

I definitely don't want to do that. Any advice?

PL, Merseyside

Sam says…

END this affair now before it ruins your life.

I watched window cleaner splash all over my missus!

Dear Sam,

I CAUGHT my wife shagging our window cleaner a couple of weeks ago.

To my amazement, I got really aroused as he fked her in a number of positions.

They couldn't see me as I was peering through the lounge window, so I tossed myself off as he nailed her.

The mucky fella was really pounding away and she was screaming at him to give it to her.

Later on, she tugged him off until he spunked all over her face and tits.

She was like a porn star and has never been like that in bed with me.

The next day I told them both what I'd seen and said it was OK for them to repeat their sordid session so long as I could use his ladder and look through the window as they were fking.

They were up for the idea and I even cleaned the window as I watched him screw my wife.

I then went inside and had a tremendous wank – I nearly pulled the end off it!

This happens every week now and my sex life with the wife has improved.

But do you think I'm a pervert?

TL, Lancashire

Sam says…

NO. Just a man with very clean windows!

I'm loaded after giving out strip club 'extras'

Dear Sam,

A FRIEND of my husband got married recently and for his stag night his pals organised a special night at a strip club.

My hubby came home in the early hours of the morning in a right state, so I left him to sleep it off on the couch.

In the morning I asked him about the strip show and he told me all about it.

He described how one girl used a cucumber on herself before inviting men in the audience to get on stage with her for a live sex show.

Groaning

And I could hardly believe it as my fella told me how one of his mates accepted the invitation and shagged her.

He told me this woman sucked him off before bending over a chair and letting him take her doggy-style. The lads cheered as he pounded away.

All this dirty talk got me horny and I dropped to my knees and sucked my hubby's stiff cock.

He began groaning as I took his full length to the back of my throat. Then he fked me in every hole.

The next day I couldn't get the stripper story out of my head and decided to pay a visit to the club.

I rang up and spoke to a bloke who offered me an audition as a stripper.

When I got to the club this man told me to take my clothes off so he could check out my figure.

Once I was naked he smiled and said: "You'll do."

He then told me the job involved shagging on stage.

The whole thing turned me on so much that I told him to take me roughly over the bar.

He then gave me some money to buy a stage outfit and told me to be back at the club for 9pm that night.

I made an excuse to my hubby about going to see a friend and got to the club 15 minutes early.

I was told to get changed into my outfit, then sucked my boss's cock before I went on stage.

My heart was pounding, but once the music started I began to relax and before I knew it I was naked and the crowd was cheering.

That was four months ago and I've made over £10,000. This is because I've shagged or sucked off loads of blokes as an "extra".

I'm now thinking of packing it all in, just in case my hubby finds out, but I'll miss the cash and the sex.

What should I do?

HK, Essex

Sam says…

QUIT while you're ahead. Your husband would probably go berserk if he found out.

DO YOU HAVE A SEX PROBLEM?

Steamy threesome left me knackered!

Dear Sam,

MY new girlfriend is a cracker with blonde hair, big tits and a lovely arse.

On our first date she sucked me off and on our second I knobbed her on the back seat of my car.

It was fantastic watching my 10-incher sliding in and out of her glistening fanny.

Just as I was about to explode, I pulled out and spunked in her mouth.

Last time we fked, she changed into a nurse's costume and asked me to slot her up the arse.

I was dressed as a doctor and instructed her to get ready to take her medicine.

She was loving it as I eased my throbbing cock up her tight hole and talked dirty throughout the sordid episode – demanding that I thrust into her harder and faster.

Afterwards we were chatting and she said she wanted to experiment even more and would really like a threesome with me and her best mate.

I was well up for it as her pal is really fit, but the night we had together is just a blur after so much sucking, wanking and fking.

After I'd shagged both of them twice, I was absolutely knackered.

Now my girl wants a threesome with MY mate, but I'm not really comfortable with it.

What should I do?

GF, Strathclyde

Sam says…

I THINK it's only fair you do as she asks – because after all, you had YOUR fun.

Spanking is out of hand

Dear Sam,

WHEN I started going out with my latest fella he wasn't into spanking at all.

I asked him to spank me on our first night together, but he was so shocked I thought he was a prude.

But slowly, over a number of weeks, I got him used to the idea.

After a month or two he became a real pro, instinctively knowing when I wanted him to slap my arse to really get me going in the sack.

But I must have been too good a teacher – because my fella is now obsessed with belting my bum.

It's something I like every once in a while when I'm revved up and having rough sex.

I really like it when I'm being taken from behind because doggy-style sex lends itself so well.

But he spanks me every time we go to bed together.

I've tried telling him I don't want it, but he thinks I'm joking and says: "You know you want it."

What do you suggest?

PL, Norfolk

Sam says…

TELL him in no uncertain terms that it's no spanking unless you demand it.

WINDOW cleaner Martin Sykes begged us for a photo of mega-boobed glamour babe Jamie Leigh.

The 57-year-old, from Hartlepool, says he's seen some sights over the years but he's never seen anyone like 32F Ipswich stunna Jamie, 28.

He said: "She's a beauty is Jamie, every time I see a photo of her I go weak at the knees.

"In my years as a window cleaner I've seen plenty of naked women through the windows – but if I saw Jamie in the nude I'd probably fall off my ladder!"

MISSY LOVE

COMMUNITY support worker Aasim Khan absolutely loves his favourite glamour girl Missy Love.

The 29-year-old, from Accrington, Lancashire, wrote in to ask for a saucy snap of 32-year-old Glaswegian babe Missy.

Aasim said: "I have an elderly man I regularly visit at work and he always buys the Sport, so whenever I go round I have a flick through.

"Missy's 32E knockers always get me going and she's not only my favourite stunna but also my client's – make both our days, would you?"

VERENA TWIGG

BARISTA Harry Taunton says his coffee isn't the only thing that froths when he catches a glimpse of Verena Twigg.

The 37-year-old coffee expert, from Llandudno, Wales, says 30-year-old Blackburn babe Verena gets him going.

Harry said: "I love my job and I spend my days making milky, frothy coffees, but at night I love looking at photos of Verena's 34D norks.

"Whenever I ogle her bare boobs, my coffee isn't the only thing that gets milky and frothy – another photo of her, please?"

tommie JO

By BECCA STUBBS
becca@sundaysport.co.uk

TOPLESS tease Tommie Jo loves being pleasured by her man – but she loves to give just as much as she likes to receive.

Tommie, 28, from Walton-on-Thames, gets turned on by foreplay and trying out tons of different positions.

The 32G stunna said: "Foreplay is important. I'm a foreplay girl, I love foreplay.

"I love touching, kissing and playing around.

"I think it's really important to do that so you get fully in the mood and excited about each other.

Horny

"Passionate kissing really turns me on – it certainly gets me ready for a big night, if you know what I mean!

"I love it when a guy goes down on me just before he gets on top – it makes me horny thinking about it.

"Some days I just fancy lying back and having a good time, but there are days when I can't wait to jump on top and make him feel good.

"I like thinking up new positions, then trying them on him as soon as he walks through the door.

"I think the best sex is when you both give and take, and you mix it up a bit.

"That way it can never get boring."

THE WINNING POST

Moon set to shine

By BEN MORGAN

COLIN Tizzard has decided to bypass a potential ding dong battle at Cheltenham and send WHITE MOON (NAP) to Exeter instead.

The Cheltenham race looks a real hot race and he has other options that could go there so it could pay dividends to give White Moon more experience before stepping him up in grade later on.

He was surprisingly easy to back on debut, despite Tizzard making no secret of how highly he rates him and he went on to do the business quite well that day, powering clear after the last.

On the face of it, he looks to have all the credentials to make a top novice hurdler and any offering of odds against is a gift.

Bangor host a competitive card today also and I like the chances of AGAMEMMON in the first. There was a strong feeling among a lot of punters that this horse would be a different horse now having his attention turned to fences and I think he is.

The form card says he was beaten 7 lengths in a Huntingdon novice chase last time but I think he may have bumped into one that day and it's worth bearing in mind that he pulled clear of a good horse in third. With that experience under his belt, I expect him to win today.

If the bookmakers aren't feeling too generous with regards White Moon, then it may be worth doubling him up with IF THE CAP FITS.

Harry Fry's horse was a very good bumper performer finishing 4th in the Aintree bumper where he raced wide throughout so to finish 4th was impressive. Although, it tells you what regard they hold him in when Noel Fehily stated he was slightly disappointed with that performance.

He made a highly pleasing hurdle debut when dispatching of a decent field at Exeter and although he will appreciate a step up in trip one day, he should have plenty of pace to see of these today.

Fry can seal a quick double at Bangor as DASHING OSCAR looks very well weighted in the 2.50. Midnight Tour's presence means he runs off 11 stone exactly which is a great racing weight especially for an improving horse such as this.

He won well first time out and I expect him to come on for that and be competitive again here.

BURGESS BACK TO TACKLE PNG

SAM BURGESS has given England a massive boost in time for their quarter-final against Papua New Guinea.

The big forward limped out of the opening clash against Australia and missed the other two group games. He tweaked ligaments in his right knee and it looked as though his tournament was over.

But the 28-year-old South Sydney star is raring to go having come though a couple of gruelling training sessions unscathed.

Coach Wayne Bennett has decided to throw caution to the wind and play his star man in Melbourne on Sunday.

LATEST ON ENGLAND

He said: “Sam will play. He is all good but he has still got tests to pass.”

And Bennett is clearly delighted to have Burgess back — and believes he can make a massive different to England.

The coach added: “Sam brings a lot but right now his priority is to play well and not worry about the team.

“The team has been playing well without him.

“If he is playing on the edge it is not as demanding physically as it is in the middle so he might be able to get through the whole game or he might not.

“It is not a real issue in the first half, it’s something for the second half.”

Ben Currie is a favourite of Bennett and keeps his place in the second row, with Chris Heighington the one making way for Burgess.

There is another injury scare hanging over the team with winger Jermaine McGillvary sitting out training with an ankle problem.

He is expected to recover and it’s just as well given he’s scored four tries in the World Cup so far.

Options

Bennett added: “It has been around for a little while but we do not think he will not play. He will play.”

Jonny Lomax will miss the game with a calf strain, with Gareth Widdop keeping the full-back berth.

Bennett said: “Gareth was very good but Stefan Ratchford was very good there last week as well so we have got some good options.

“We’ve got a pretty good squad and capable of doing a job if we need them.”

Veteran James Roby stays on the bench with Josh Hodgson back in the hooker position after being rested against France in the final group game.

Team: G Widdop; J McGillvary, K Watkins, J Bateman, R Hall; K Brown, L Gale; C Hill, J Hodgson, J Graham, S Burgess, E Whitehead, S O’Loughlin (capt). Interchange: A Walmsley, T Burgess, B Currie, J Roby.

BIG CALL: Meninga

Meninga goes for Morgan over Cam

AUSTRALIA coach Mal Meninga is keeping faith with Michael Morgan in the crucial stand-off position.

He has been given the nod for the quarter-final against Samoa ahead of Cameron Munster.

Meninga has gone with his best 17 for the game in Darwin.

He said: “There has been a lot of pressure internally by some of the younger players but at this stage I’ll go with the tried and true and go with the team that has got some good experience.”

Munster couldn’t have done much more to make Meninga play him alongside Cooper Cronk.

He scored four tries in his two pool games — but big Mal wants to stick with experience.

Pressure

Morgan didn’t shine against England in the opener but was more like his true self against France.

He is fresh having been rested against Lebanon last time.

Meninga added: “When you look at our 13, it picks itself in a way. But there was plenty of pressure being exerted by the younger ones.

“Our bench was the one we mused over a fair bit considering who we play against. Samoa are a big side. I went with what we thought was good against England because they’ve got a big side.”

The Kangaroos have won both previous Tests against Samoa, with victory on Friday setting up a semi-final clash with either New Zealand or Fiji in Brisbane.

PNG FACE UP TO LO EXPECTATIONS

By RAY MURPHY

PAPUA NEW GUINEA could be without their star man for the quarter-final against England.

Winger Garry Lo is no more than 50-50 to take the field on Sunday.

The new Castleford signing picked up an ankle injury in PNG’s 64-0 cruise against the United States last time.

He missed training and has been seen sporting a protective boot.

It makes him a major doubt for the biggest game in his nation’s history.

Coach Marcus Bal said: “We’re looking at him but it might be Thursday or Friday before we’ll know if he will be fit for the quarter-final. I’d say he’s 50-50.”

Head coach Michael Marum will leave it until the last minute to pick his team because he knows how important Lo is to his team.

But Bal insists PNG have quality players who can come in and fill the gaps.

He added: “We’ve got two boys who are waiting in the wings.

“Michael will have the last say and, if he’s not right, he’s not going to be selected.

“Stargroth Amean can play full-back and wing and a bit of centre and Thompson Teteh can play centre and second row, also on the wing, and those boys are 100 per cent.”

There is one surprise with the omission of stand-off Lachlan Lam — son of former Wigan star Adrian.

He makes way for Ase Boas who was rested last time and is another key man for PSG.

Lam is likely to figure at some point but it’s thought that the occasion might be a little too much for the teenager at this stage of his career.

Bal added: “Young Lachlan played very well last week.

“He came in and put his marker down. He is knocking on the door. He’s got a very good attitude, a good brain and his dad taught him well. He is the future of the Kumuls.”

It is a big test for PNG who have been roared on by capacity 15,000 crowds in the country’s capital Port Moresby.

They cross into Australia but Bal believes there is enough talent in the side to push England all the way — even without home advantage.

He said: “It’s always a possibility to beat England if we play well and play direct and defend well.

“We can score points but defence will win the game.

“In our last two games we dropped so many balls and you can’t do that against a quality side who are very professional and coached well by Wayne Bennett.

“We have already achieved some of the things that a lot of people didn’t think we could achieve.

“We’re going to work really hard and maintain the boys so they have some confidence and belief.”

Team: D Mead (capt); J Olam, K Ottio, N Macdonald, G Lo; A Boas, W Boas; M Meninga, J Segeyaro, L Page, R Martin, W Minoga, P Aiton. Interchange: K Baptiste, S Amean, S Albert, R Griffin.

Watford boss' Marco Silva heads the market at BetVictor to be the next permanent manager of Everton following the news on Monday that the Blues executive had asked the Vicarage Road Club for permission to speak to the 40-year-old coach.

That advance was immediately rebuffed by Watford, but he still heads the market at 6/4 in what is becoming a bit of a saga as the Blues try and find a replacement for Ronald Koeman.

At the time of writing, the odds for the next Everton boss are (prices from BetVictor)

Marco Silva	6/4
David Unsworth	3/1
Sean Dyche	6/1
Sam Allardyce	14/1

We were betting in running on the World Cup winners during Monday's play-off game between Italy and Sweden in Milan. A couple of punters took 80/1 about the Azzurri winning the tournament as the game entered the closing minutes and I think it is sad that Italy will not be in the competition.

They won seven games in the group stages and let's be honest were the better side over the two legs.

★ We all make mistakes let's face it and on Monday morning, Ruth Jefferson entered the grey Cloudy Dream for husband Malcolm in the 3m 4f BetVictor Handicap Chase at Cheltenham on Saturday.

The problem is she meant to enter the horse for the BetVictor Gold Cup over 2m 4f for which he had been very well backed in the antepost market.

We made the decision to refund all losing bets on the horse at BetVictor, given it wasn't the punter's fault, and many people have criticised the inflexibility of the British Horseracing Authorities for not allowing the horse to be reinstated for what was just a human error. I cannot agree and believe the stance taken by the racing authorities to be correct.

The ground was soft for last week's Haldon Gold Cup meeting at Exeter and conditions are described as soft (good to soft places) ahead of today's card. In the 3m handicap Chase Yanmare is a thorough stayer who remains open to further improvement, but can run in snatches and his jumping was a bit hit and miss last season.

The vote goes to Bogoss Du Perret (2.00) who has been raised 8lbs for winning at Newton Abbot last month for the father and daughter combination of Jimmy and Bryony Frost. The latter is excellent value for her 5lbs claim and gave Present Man a wonderful ride when winning the feature Badger Ales chase at Wincanton on Saturday.

Yanworth (3.00) steps up in trip having made a winning chase debut over shorter here three weeks ago and this Grade 1 winning hurdler jumped well in the main.

The selection must give 15lbs to Paul Nicholls' French import Chameron and this dual-winning hurdler and mare Briery Queen will ensure this is a proper test for Alan King's seven-year-old.

At Bangor-on-Dee Agamemmon (12.40) was well backed on his reappearance at Huntingdon having his first start for the yard of Tom George and he is entitled to come on for the experience and it will be interesting to see if connections try and recoup losses.

Top-weight Halo Moon has won his last three starts but the last of those was back in February 2016 and he is 5lbs higher this afternoon.

That said, he represents the inform yard of Harry Fry and a market move would be worth noting.

EXCITED: Henderson

Hendo's up for big clash with Douvan

RACING

TOP trainer Nicky Henderson is licking his lips at the prospect of his Altior taking on superstar Douvan at Cheltenham.

The Festival may be six months away but their clash is already potential one of the highlights of the season.

The Queen Mother Champion Chase is the target for Altior who won the Supreme Novices' Hurdle in 2016 and the Arkle at this year's big meeting.

He will make his reappearance in the Tingle Creek Chase at Sandown next month.

And Henderson is already excited about taking on Douvan who is likely to race in Ireland before coming over for Cheltenham.

The champion trainer said: "He's only just started his faster work as there is still three weeks to go.

"We are where we want to be, he's totally on target for the Tingle Creek.

"I suppose there's the Shloer this weekend he could have gone for, but for me it's too close to the Tingle Creek.

Rival

"So, it fits in well but it means we are starting in a Grade One."

When asked about Altior's main rival this season he only had one name on his mind.

Henderson said: "There's Douvan of course!

"I was speaking to his owner Rich Ricci the other day and he said both Douvan and Faugheen are in great shape and the Douvan and Altior match will be in March.

"Hopefully we all get there in one piece, but that is the big if as these horses are so delicate.

"I hope the meeting is in March as it will be one to savour.

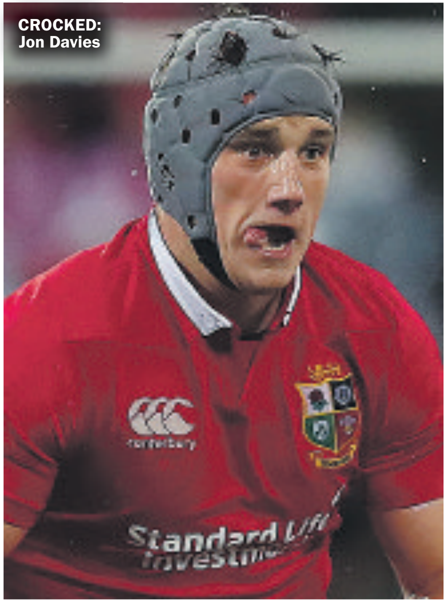
"At the beginning of last season Douvan looked like the next Sprinter Sacre, he was unbeatable at the time.

"I know he had a wobble but he'll be back, I'm sure.

"We'll go down our road, they can go down theirs and let's hope the clash takes place."

The bookies are already betting on the Champion Chase.

They make Altior their 5/4 favourite, with Douvan a best price of 7/2 which looks a little on the long side.



CROCKED: Jon Davies

Wales star Davies fights for 6 Nations

RUGBY UNION

JONATHAN Davies is out for at least six months with a foot injury.

The Wales star needs to go under the knife and won't play until March at the earliest — meaning he could miss the entire RBS Six Nations.

That's on top of a busy Autumn international programme that started for the Dragons with defeat against Australia on Saturday.

The Scarlets centre picked up the injury in that reverse against the Wallabies.

BROUGHT IN: Roberts

A Welsh RFU statement said: "Jonathan Davies will undergo surgery to his foot following the injury sustained against Australia in the Under Armour Series.

"It is envisaged that recovery will be in the region of six months."

Davies has won 65 caps for Wales and has become their best player.

Struggling

He was man of the series for the British And Irish Lions against the All Blacks earlier this year.

Wales coach Warren Gatland now has a big gap to fill in his already struggling side.

They have a simple task against Georgia at the weekend but things get much harder with games against New Zealand on November 25 and South Africa a week later.

It's another big blow for Davies, as the 29-year-old missed the last World Cup with a similar problem.

Coach Neil Jenkins admits that losing him is a massive blow. He said: "He is a world-class rugby player, there is no doubting that.

BIG BLOW: Gatland

"Any team with someone like Jon involved is certainly going to miss him.

"He was outstanding in the summer for the Lions, for us and for the Scarlets at the end of the season.

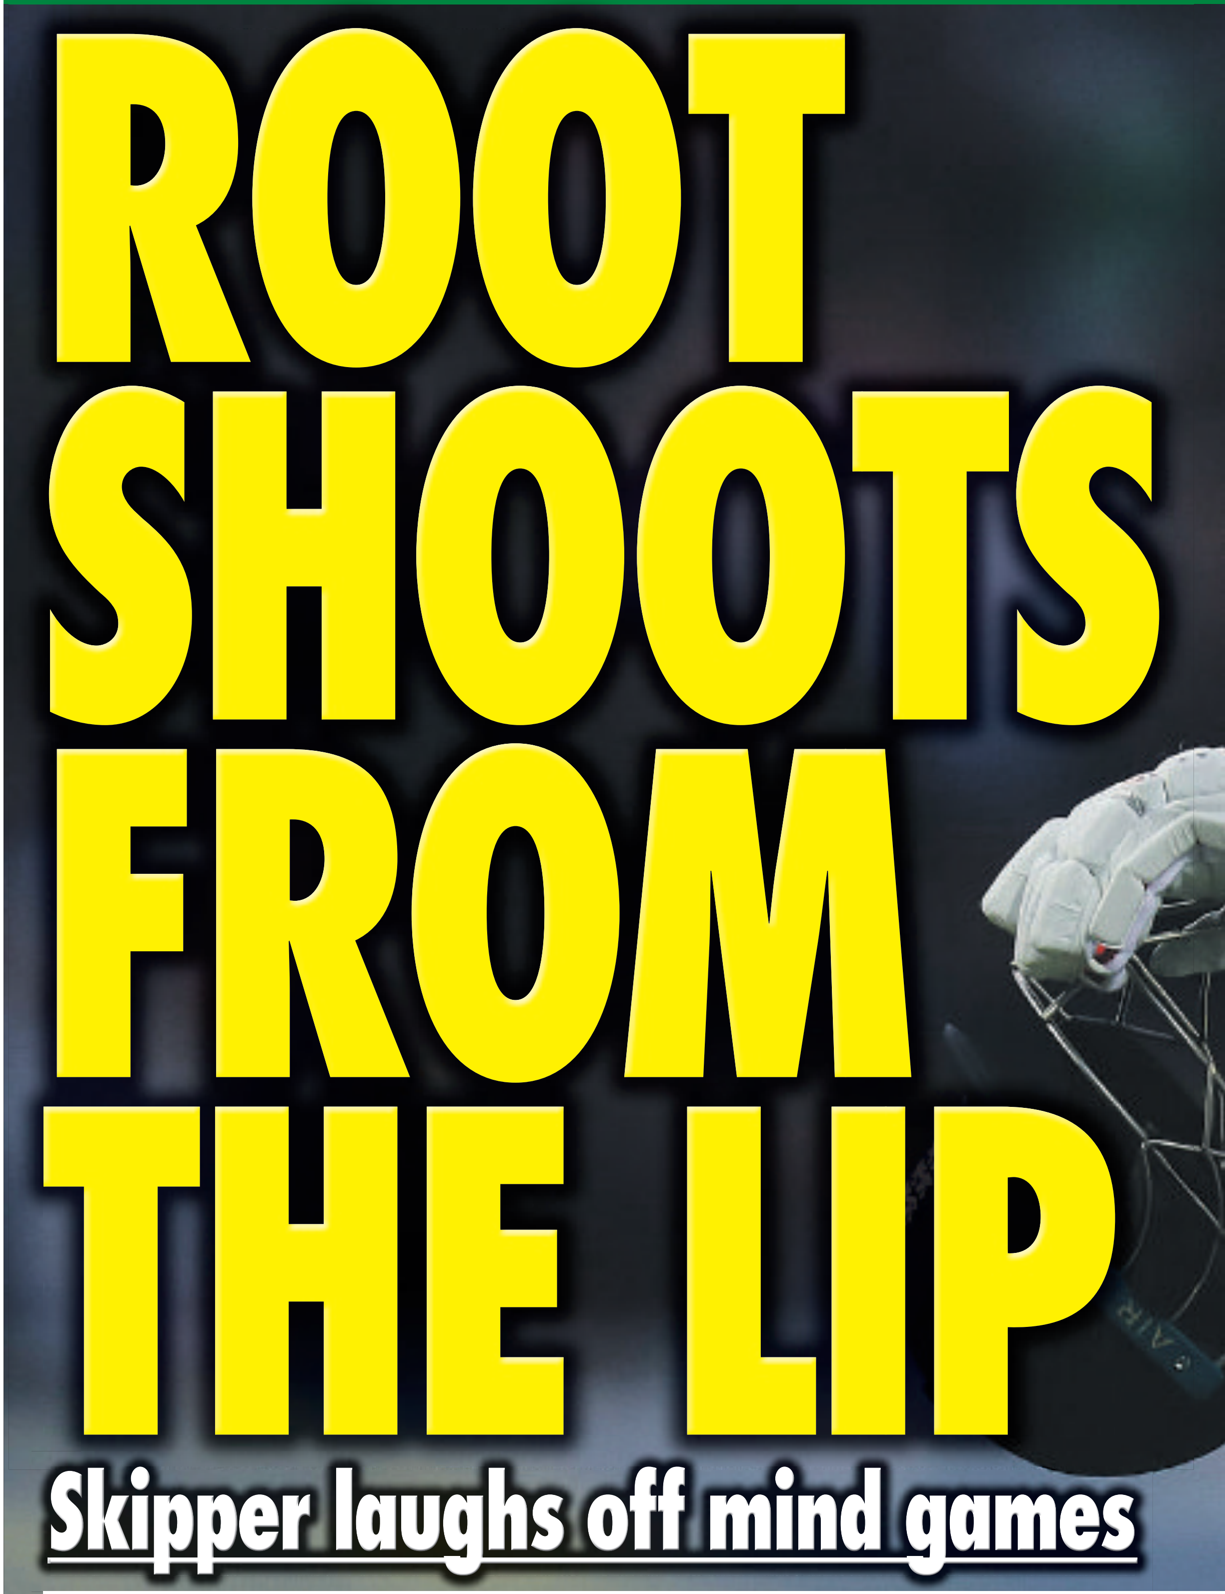
"The sad thing is he's been playing incredibly well, and it was right at the end of the game as well."

Harlequins centre Jamie Roberts has been called into the squad as Davies' replacement.

He has a wealth of experience with 93 caps but Gatland left him out of the original squad for the Autumn Tests.

The 31-year-old was skipper against Tonga this summer so it was a shock when he was dropped in the first place.

There's better news about Ospreys pair Rhys Webb and Justin Tipuric who are back in training and expected to play some part against the Georgians.



ROOT SHOOTS FROM THE LIP

Skipper laughs off mind games

By NED TRUEMAN

JOE ROOT believes England have learned a big lesson since getting whitewashed on the last Ashes tour.

The Three Lions were blitzed 5-0 four years ago — and it was a rude awakening for the skipper.

The Yorkshireman was a junior player in that side who ended up being dropped for the final Test of the tour.

He is determined to avoid another humiliation and insists his England team will not fall for the Aussie tricks of slagging the tourists off left, right and centre in the media.

The Aussie papers make our tabloids look like the Woman's Own with the amount of stick they dish out to their opponents.

The latest load of cobblers has come from paceman Pat Cummins who says he'll leave England fearing facing him in the first Test at Brisbane later this month.

Root is already laughing off those comments.

He said: "Fear is not the right word at this stage of the tour — but respect probably is.

"They have a lot of quality in their attack, but we have lots of quality in our side too.

"Those are the words that will be flying around our dressing room."

England are taking no chances in their final warm-up game against the Cricket Australia XI.

They have already beaten them once and have let James Anderson sit out the action.

The Lancashire seamer is a "bit under the weather" so was left out of the side. But there is no suggestion that he won't be lining up at the Gabba.

Fellow seamer Jake Ball is also back in the frame as he returns to training after an ankle strain.

Root knows he needs all his bowlers fit and firing for what will be gruelling Test series.

Worry

The Australians have already started their mind games with Cummins backed up by his team-mates.

Opener David Warner says he feels "hatred" towards England and it will be like a war out in the middle. Root

FIRST TEST MATCH IN BRISBANE

FIGHTING TALK: Joe Root refuses to be intimidated by the Aussies is trying to keep a lid on nonsense like that.

He said: “There’s been a lot of talk, some of it exciting and some of it a load of rubbish, especially from some of the Aussie players.

“I try not to do too much talking. That’s more for them to worry about.

“The more you say the more can backfire on you.

“We will go about things our way. I hope that’s the right way.”

Root knows why the Australians are shouting their mouths off — that’s because it has worked in winding England up before. The skipper admits that he was one of the victims on the last tour and it did put him off his game.

But he was just 22 then and has a lot more miles on the clock now.

Root added: “Last time that caught us out, and I think we are a bit wiser this time.

Throw

“Mentally we’ve approached it slightly differently this time around, and maybe slightly better.

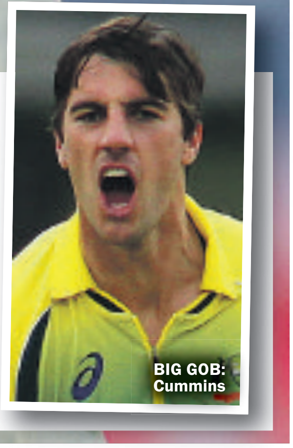
“It’s making sure we are absolutely prepared for any scenario out there, and absolutely ready for that first game, whatever they do throw at us. We expect it to be hostile — we expect it to be a very loud and rowdy atmosphere at the Gabba.”

Root knows the Aussies always target the England skipper — and he just happens to be our best player too.

He’s happy with that, adding: “I’ve heard a lot of chat about targeting me, in particular.

“We’ll be targeting every single one of them, we won’t be singling anyone out during the games.

“Of course, we’ll have plans in place for each individual player — bring it on.”



BIG GOB: Cummins

CAT CALL: Heckingbottom

Tyke Heck in line for Black Cats hotseat

BARNSLEY boss Paul Heckingbottom has come right into the reckoning for the Sunderland job.

The Black Cats are still without a gaffer after firing Simon Grayson before the international break.

The club’s bosses are trying to bring in a new man ASAP — but it’s proving more difficult that you might think.

Chief executive Martin Bain has been talking to candidates with the Tykes gaffer keen to come back to the north-east.

He was a youth player at Sunderland but didn’t make the breakthrough into the first team.

Heckingbottom has done an excellent job with Barnsley.

They were set for the drop into League Two when he took over and steered them back into the Championship.

They won the Football League Trophy along the way and are holding their own in the second tier.

Approach

It makes you wonder why he would leave for the Stadium Of Light, where Sunderland seem to be in permanent turmoil.

It’s not know if he’s been interviewed for the job or whether an official approach has been made to Barnsley.

One man who would love to speak to the Black Cats is Dwight Yorke.

The Tobagan ended his career with Sunderland and is desperate to get into management.

He’s yet to have a job other than being No2 for his nation for a short spell after he hung up his boots in 2009. But he believes he could be the right man to take over from Grayson in this difficult time for his former club.

WANTS TALKS: Yorke

IN FRAME: McCoist

He said: “I think what that place needs is somebody to lift the spirits and get rid of some of the negative feeling.

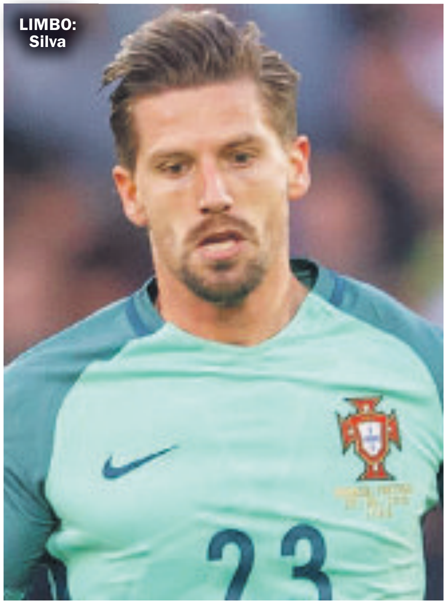
“I would jump at the chance and have been in touch with the club.

“But as it is now I haven’t heard back from them. Just to have an interview for the job would be nice.”

Former Middlesbro gaffer Aitor Karanka is another name in the frame, along with Phil Neville and another former Sunderland striker in Ally McCoist.

The club is looking to have a new man in place before this weekend’s game against fellow strugglers Millwall — which means time is quickly running out.

Heckingbottom looks the most likely man at this stage, although Barnsley may have something to say.



LIMBO: Silva

Adrien in rage after Leicester transfer fiasco

LEICESTER midfielder Adrien Silva says he feels "disgusted" after being left in football limbo.

The Portugal star cannot play for the Foxes because his £22million transfer from Sporting Lisbon went through 14 seconds after the deadline.

Leicester lodged an appeal with Fifa but they flatly rejected it. That means he cannot play for his club side — or even train with the first team.

But Sporting can't have him back either — meaning the talented international has been left training on his own for the past four months.

Silva has lost his place in the national side and has been talking about the amazing situation.

He said: "I had a lot of desire to talk about the injustice.

"I was disgusted by this, but people calmed me, they advised me that I had to let go of a painful time to express myself in a calmer, less aggressive way. It was the best decision.

Hide

"The negotiations for my transfer to Leicester were very difficult.

"I had to make a lot of concessions to Sporting, I will not talk about them, it's between me and the club, but I want to make it clear that I had to give up things so that negotiations could go on.

"I cannot hide that it was a big disappointment. I felt a great disillusionment with everything that happened, which I was not responsible for, but I am the big loser.

"It is not a short time without playing any football for my club."

PORTUGAL BOSS: Santos

LATE DEAL: Drinkwater

Leicester left their move until the last minute because they were waiting for Danny Drinkwater's Chelsea transfer to go through.

That came on deadline day and they thought Silva was in the bag.

But it's not the case and the Portugeezer is fuming.

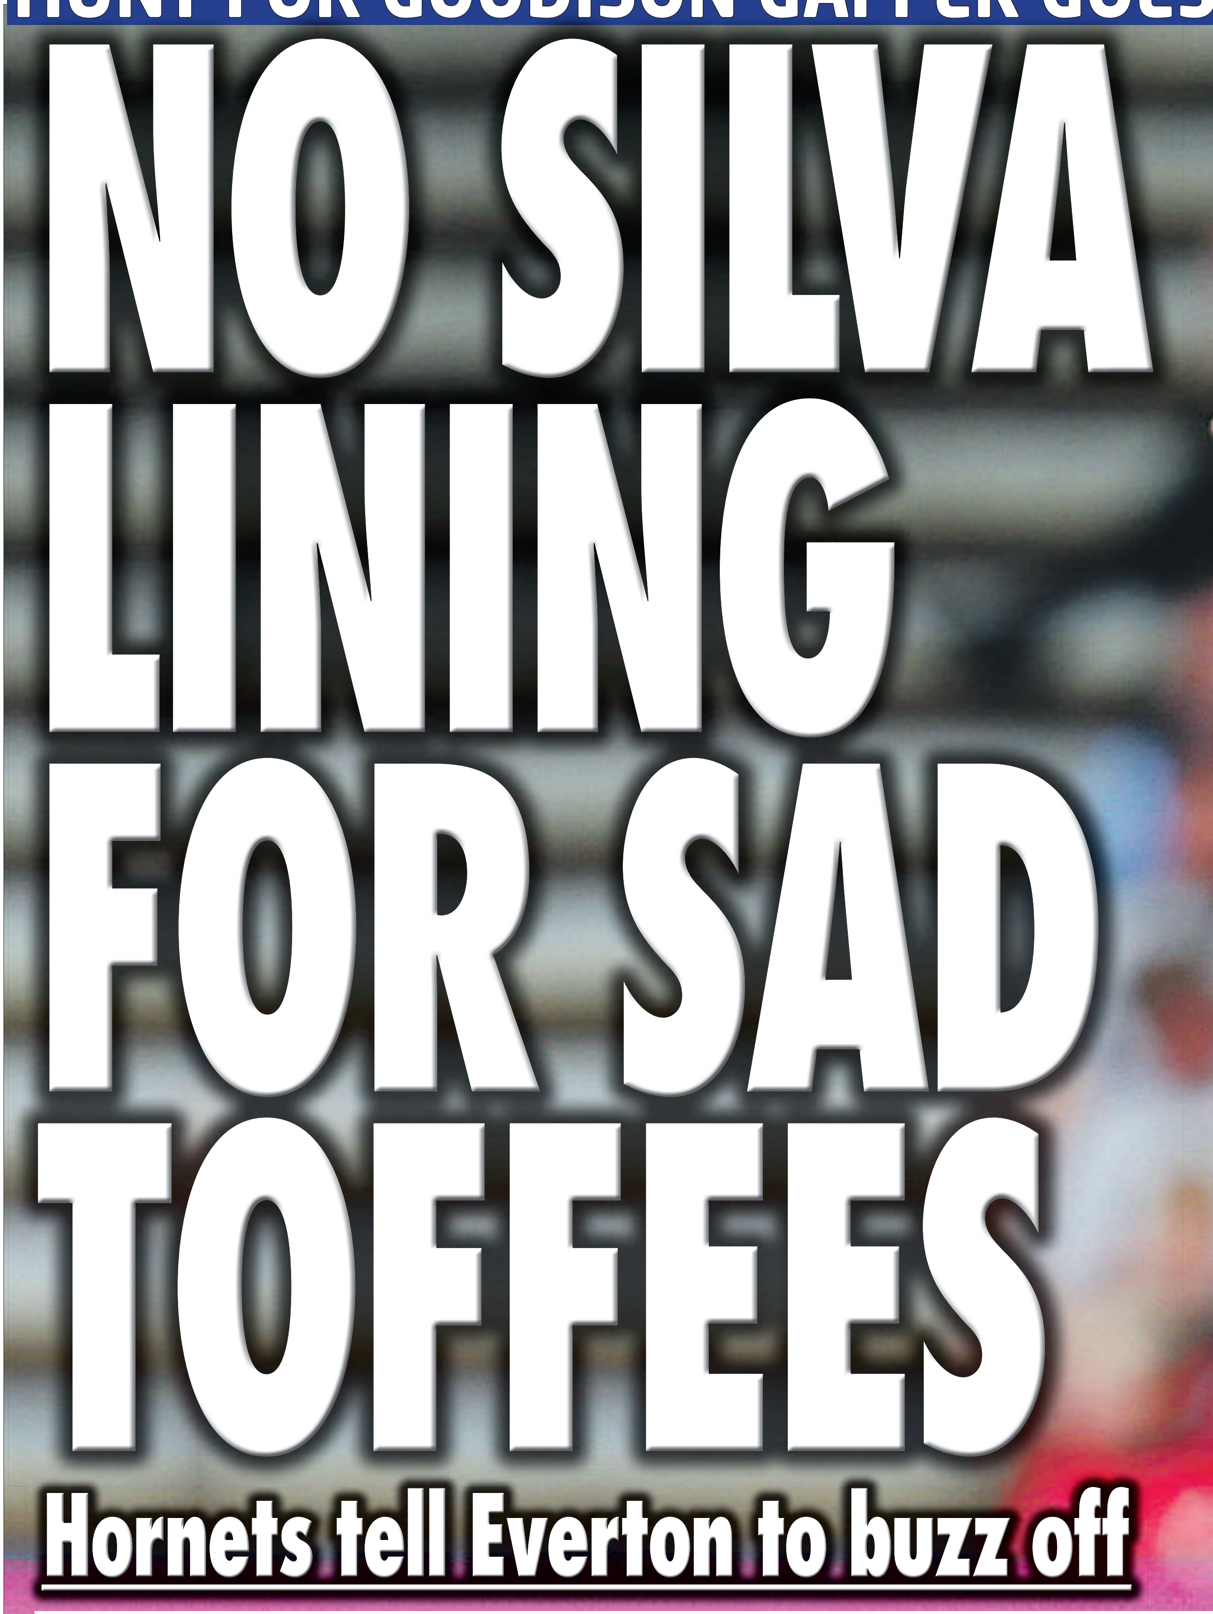
He added: "The talks were very late, on the last day of the market, because Leicester were selling a player, Drinkwater to Chelsea, and as long as that transfer did not materialise, mine could not be closed.

"National team manager Fernando Santos has told me to be calm and to prepare for the best when I get to January.

"I'm thinking about going to the World Cup next summer.

"It's something that is in my head all the time and I'm going to work so that I'm in the best condition when the time comes for the World Cup."

HUNT FOR GOODISON GAFFER GOES



NO SILVA LINING FOR SAD TOFFEES

Hornets tell Everton to buzz off

MARCO Silva is happy to stay at Watford after the Hornets flat refused Everton's request for talks.

By ANDY MILLOM

The Portuguese gaffer has just penned a two-year contract with the Vicarage Road men.

And there's no release clause so he has no choice but to stay in north London.

Everton have made an approach to speak to the former Hull manager but Watford have told them there's no chance.

Silva has steered the unfashionable Hornets to the top half of the Premier League — but tasted defeat at Goodison in the last game before the international break.

He made his name over here by almost keeping up a poor Hull side last season.

Watford are determined to keep their man and caretaker David Unsworth is likely to be in charge again in the crucial relegation six-pointer against Crystal Palace at the weekend.

The Toffees had hoped to have a new boss in place this week — almost a month after they fired Ronald Koeman.

But it is turning out to be a difficult task. Everton may be a big name with plenty of cash but managers are not falling over themselves to head to Merseyside.

Burnley gaffer Sean Dyche is another they would like to speak to.

But the Clarets are digging in and Everton would have to come up with a major compensation package to even think about getting their man.

Sam Allardyce is another who has been targeted but the former England gaffer insists there have been no formal talks with the Goodison club.

It looks more likely that Sam will head across the Atlantic to take over the United States.

Needed

He said: "There have been no contract talks with Everton in any way, shape or form and what I would or wouldn't accept is complete and utter nonsense.

"Everton is a fantastic football club with huge history and tradition.

"It's got its difficulties at the moment and what it's got planned in the future has to go on hold at the moment to focus on what is really needed.

"That is to get Everton up that league and then talk about the bright future that's ahead in the next season — or whenever it might be and which direction do they go in.

"There's a huge amount of planning to be done, I feel, for the right manager that sets the right stall out about the future of Everton and not just the present day.

"But the present day is the most important now at this moment in time. But it's got a bright future." On a potential move to the States, Allardyce said: "If I got the opportunity to speak to the US then I would look forward to that.

"I've always loved the States and I played there and had a terrific time with Tampa Bay Rowdies."

Key Everton players are still calling for Unsworth to get the job on a permanent basis.

After three poor results, they came from 2-0 down to grab a dramatic win against Watford in their last Premier League game.

For Leighton Baines, that is proof that the players are putting in full effort for the former Toffees defender.

He said: "Unsy has been top drawer since taking over as caretaker manager.

"I have loved the training sessions he has put on, and the way he has conducted himself.

"He is a true Evertonian, with a deep passion for the club and his team talk before the Watford game was special.

"We were bitterly disappointed not to have achieved better results from his first three games in charge, so to finally get that win on the board for him felt great. It was the least he deserved."

Despite their troubles, there is plenty of talent at Goodison with younger talent like Dominic Calvert-Lewin supported by old heads like Wayne Rooney and Ashley Williams.

Baines himself has lots of experience and thinks the Watford win could be a turning point.

He said: "That victory eased the pressure on all of us. However, we are under no illusions about the situation we still find ourselves in.

"We know it's not good enough for a club of Everton's stature."

GOING: O'Neill

Norn Iron to tackle Fifa over penno

NORTHERN Ireland are thinking about taking legal action against Fifa over THAT penalty that cost them a place in the World Cup finals.

Their neighbours in the Republic famously consulted their lawyers after Thierry Henry's handball cost them a place in the 2010 summer tournament.

At that time, they took their case to football's governing body who reportedly paid them five million euros in compensation. It didn't get them to overturn the decision though.

Northern Ireland were robbed when the ref gave one of the most ridiculous penalties of all-time in the first leg of their play-off against Switzerland.

Not only was Corry Evans less than a yard away from the ball, his hands were nowhere near it.

But it was the resulting penalty that made the difference between the sides.

Skipper Jonny Evans thinks the call was poorer than Henry's blatant handball that cost the Republic.

He said: "It was actually a worse decision because the ref has made a call that was not there.

"It's different if he didn't see it. He's claimed he saw something that didn't happen which is the hardest part to take about it."

One of Northern Ireland's MPs has backed the calls for their FA to bring up the issue with Fifa. There seems zero chance of it making any difference — but there could be some compo involved.

OUTRAGE: Evans

Meanwhile, it looks as though boss Michael O'Neill will leave his job. The Scotland hotseat has been mentioned but he's expected to return to club football with the vacant Rangers job another possibility for the 48-year-old.

INJURY: Hernandez

Little Pea off teamsheet for Moyes debut

DAVID Moyes has been hit with his first blow as West Ham boss with key striker Javier Hernandez out of his first game.

Chicharito — the "Little Pea" — has picked up a hamstring injury while on international duty with Mexico. He got the problem against Belgium on Friday.

He came back to the London Stadium early for scans and treatment. The 29-year-old is expected to be out for a week, meaning he'll miss the crucial clash with Watford.

Hernandez also faces a race against time to be fit to take on Leicester on Friday night.

Moyes didn't pick him much when he was Manchester United boss but is willing to give him another chance.

The Scot said: "If he's scoring goals and working hard, he will be in. It will be the same for the rest of the squad."

NEW TEAM: Moyes

South

Moyes has been busy in the international break and has finalised his Hammers backroom staff.

Former West Ham defender Stuart Pearce and ex-Everton coach Alan Irvine have been appointed as the Scot's assistants.

Billy McKinlay has also come south from Sunderland where he was caretaker manager for one game before the international break.

The backroom staff is completed by former England goalie Chris Woods who is the only member of Slaven Bilic's team to be kept by Moyes.

ASSISTANT: Pearce

The manager said: "I wanted to get their appointments finalised as quickly as possible and it's great that we now have a full week together before the game at Watford on Sunday.

"I've obviously worked with Alan, Billy and Chris previously, and I'm also looking forward to working with Stuart, who I have got to know well over the years.

"They all bring different qualities, and they all share the same desire and hunger to make a positive contribution here.

"It's all about working hard on the training pitch and getting the results we need as quickly as possible – that's all we are focused on.

"I'm really pleased to welcome Alan, Stuart and Billy to the club."

SOUTHGATE PLEDGES TO KEE

I'LL KEEP PICKING YOUNG LIONS

Gareth to give kids a chance

GARETH Southgate says he'll take a young and fearless squad to the World Cup.

By PAUL THOMAS

The former Under-21 boss believes the next generation of England players should get their chance to shine on the biggest stage.

The Three Lions could yet be one of the youngest teams in Russia.

If Jordan Pickford takes the No1 shirt from Joe Hart there could be top young talent at both ends of the pitch.

Eric Dier has emerged as a leading contender to be captain next summer at the age of 23. John Stones is first choice in defence at the same age with Delle Alli just 21 and Harry Kane only 24.

Raheem Sterling is another who looks nailed on for a starting place at 22 in one of the youngest England sides in decades.

Other youngsters like Joe Gomez, Ruben Loftus-Cheek, Michael Keane, Harry Maguire, Harry Winks and Marcus Rashford are also in the frame to start next summer.

Many pundits believe taking a young and dynamic side to the World Cup could pay dividends and already the likes of Jordan Henderson and Daniel Sturridge should be yesterday's Lions.

Even if Russia comes too soon, they would all have experience when the Euros and next World Cup comes around.

Headaches

Southgate says he's happy that the likes of Loftus-Cheek have come in and made an impact.

It gives him the kind of selection headaches he wants — because it means there are options all over the pitch.

The England boss said: "I will go with what I think is the best squad. At the moment I believe the best would include a lot of those young players.

"It's easy to be swayed at times by needing experience but you can have 100 experiences of the same thing or 10 different experiences that make you a more rounded person.

"What is the experience and what value it brings is a very individual thing.

"These young players have also had experience of winning youth tournaments, playing high level matches and challenges to get to where they are in their path.

"So they've had to show some resilience of their own. We'd love to have a team full of players who have won the Champions League but we haven't got that.

Route

"But I want players who will be fearless, prepared to have the ball and show what they are capable of on the biggest stage."

Southgate himself has worked himself up through the Under-21s and believes the players should be able to take the same route. He was also in charge of player development for the FA before Sam Allardyce had to leave the national job in a double hurry.

He is committed to giving young talent a chance while he's in charge.

The boss points to the success England have had in the younger age groups where they have been hoovering up tournaments.

Now he wants to take that form and translate it to the senior side.

Southgate added: "I think I was given the job because I understand the pathway and how to join the whole thing up.

"But I can't control, if we have moments of pressure, how other people respond.

"If you're a manager and you worry about that it inhibits your decisions.

"You can become risk averse, and there's a danger if you're risk averse you can forget about trying to win, and try not to lose.

"You are either going toe-to-toe with these guys or we are just here for the tour."

OUR YOUNG ENGLAND (3-5-2)

Pickford (23); Stones (23), Maguire (24), Keane (24); Dier (23), Winks (21), Alli (21), Rose (27), Sterling (22); Kane (24), Rashford (20). Average age 23.

HAPPY: De Gea

De Gea looks like a stayer with United

DAVID De Gea has poured cold water on reports linking him with a move away from Manchester United.

The Red Devils' keeper has long been touted for a transfer to Real Madrid. It famously almost happened when Luis Van Gaal was manager but the 27-year-old has since matured into Europe's best goalkeeper.

There is constant talk that a move to the Bernabeu will happen — but De Gea has dropped a major hint that he will be going nowhere.

He said: "I think that the players who leave Spain are not paid as much attention as those who stay in Spain.

"And people tend to forget about us a little.

"The English culture cares for and loves its players a lot."

De Gea has a contract at Old Trafford until 2019 and it sounds as though United should offer him another one before he changes his mind.

Massive

The man himself believes Real should snap up his understudy with the Spain squad.

Kepa Arrizabalaga has been been earning rave reviews between the sticks for Athletic Bilbao.

He's even called Kepa for eff's sake!

And De Gea is a massive fan of the 23-year-old who is also being linked with a move to Zinedine Zidane's side.

He said: "He is still very young, he has a long career ahead of him.

"His head is very settled but he must keep growing.

"When training with him, you realise his level and that he is already a great goalkeeper.

"I'm young too, we are both here and, with Pepe Reina, we always arrive at the national team with the greatest enthusiasm to help the side."

Jose Mourinho never wastes any chance to remind everyone in Spain that De Gea will not be leaving when the transfer window opens in January — whatever the press in Spain stirs up in the coming weeks.

The United manager said: "I can guarantee he's not going this season.

"That I can, and my feeling is it will be very difficult for him to go any time.

"The feeling from him is really, really good and I see him really happy and focused and working better than ever so for me, so 100% he stays with us."

COME HOME CONTE!

Italians want Chelsea gaffer back as boss

ITALY want Antonio Conte to come home and rescue the national team.

By JOHN ANTHONY

The Azzuri is in crisis after failing to qualify for the World Cup in Russia next summer.

It's the first time they have missed out since 1958 after losing their play-off 1-0 to Sweden.

Tears have been flowing in Italy ever since with legendary goalie Gianluigi Buffon one of several players retiring from international football.

Conte was in charge of the national team before coming to Stamford Bridge — and they want him back.

He had two successful years at the helm and made the Euro 2016 quarter-finals with the same squad.

Conte has made no secret that he wants to head to his homeland and could make the move this summer.

Carlo Ancelotti is also in the running for the Italy job.

Azzuri legend Alessandro Del Piero is one of the loudest voices calling for the Chelsea gaffer's return.

He said: "He did great with Juve of course and a great job with the national team.

"We would love to have him back in Italy, of course, because he is a great coach.

"He would improve any team and this is what he did with Chelsea last season and what he did with Juve. We had some problems and he fixed it, then won the title.

"He has some amazing qualities and that's why he's coaching the best teams in the world.

"I hope he will have a great period with Chelsea and then come back."
